Current Projects and Working Papers

The Credibility of International Commitments (supported by National Science Foundation CAREER Award)

Working Papers:

- “An Experimental Investigation of the Democratic Peace” (with Jessica Weeks)
- “Self-Interest and Individual Preferences over Trade Policy” (with Sungmin Rho)
- “Conditional Cooperation, International Organizations, and Climate Change” (with Dustin Tingley)
- “The Effect of International Law on Preferences and Beliefs”
- “Interests, Information, and the Domestic Politics of International Agreements”
- “Democratic Default: Domestic Audiences and Compliance with International Agreements”

Papers in Process:

- “Reputation Spillovers in International Relations”
- “The Empirics of Sovereign Debt” (with Mark Wright, for Annual Reviews of Economics)
- “Formality and Compliance in Commercial and International Relations” (with Gillian Hadfield)

New Databases:

“A Century of Expropriation.” Describes cases of expropriation of foreign direct investment since 1900. The data allow new research into the causes and effects of expropriation, including reputation spillovers from FDI expropriation to other areas of international relations. As of December 2010, the database contains all known twentieth-century cases of expropriation of U.S. firms.

“Commerce and the Law before World War II.” Contains data on commercial treaties and bilateral trade in the pre-GATT era. As of December 2009, the database includes MFN agreements, direction of trade, and national accounts for the years 1920–40.

“MIDipedia: An Expanded Database of Militarized Interstate Disputes” (with Jessica Weeks). Provides narratives, new variables, and complete documentation for the Militarized Interstate Dispute Database. As of December 2009, our research group has documented more than 1,200 disputes in the post-WWII era. Data are stored in an internet wiki that facilitates collaboration to improve the database.

The Political Economy of Elections (supported, in part, by a National Science Foundation Award to Michael Tomz and Robert Van Houweling)

Working Papers:

“Political Pledges: ‘No New Taxes’ and Budget Policymaking (with Robert Van Houweling)

“Candidate Repositioning” (with Robert Van Houweling)

“Brand Names and the Organization of Mass Belief Systems” (with Paul Sniderman)

Papers in Process:

“Partisan Bias in American Elections” (with Robert Van Houweling)

“Projection and Persuasion” (with Robert Van Houweling)

New Databases:

“U.S. Presidential Debates since World War II.” Contains transcripts of nearly all primary and general-election debates in U.S. presidential elections since 1948. The transcripts, gathered from archives across the United States, allow analysis of position-taking on foreign and domestic issues.

Software

Treatment: Software for Public Opinion Surveys with Embedded Experiments (with Nico Benitez), © 2009. Latest Version Beta 1.11, January 2009. Creates multimedia surveys with embedded experiments, delivers surveys over the internet, and generates datasets and codebooks for analysis.

Diagnosis: Software for Assessing Covariate Balance in Randomized Experiments and Observational Data, under development. Implements parametric and nonparametric tests for covariate balance.

Clarify: Software for Interpreting and Presenting Statistical Results (with Jason Wittenberg and Gary King), © 1998–2003. Latest Version 2.1, Released January 5, 2003. Uses stochastic simulation to interpret statistical results of non-linear models. Clarify won the 1999 APSA Award for the Best Research Software in Political Science.

ReLogit: Rare Events Logistic Regression (with Gary King and Langche Zeng), © 1999–2003. Latest Version 2.0, Released January 22, 2003. Performs logistic regression when the sample is unbalanced or has been selected by a rule correlated with the dependent variable.
