

- Legend
- Visitor Center
 - Undergraduate Admission and Financial Aid Office
 - Photo Location
 - Visitor Parking
 - Construction

1. Visitor Center
2. Frances C. Arrillaga Alumni Center
3. Arrillaga Center for Sports & Recreation
The Arrillaga Center for Sports and Recreation is a 75,000-square-foot recreation facility for students, faculty and staff.
4. Montag Hall
The Offices of Undergraduate Admission and Financial Aid are located here.
5. Knight Management Center
The Knight Center is home to the Graduate School of Business, which is recognized for its graduate-level MBA, PhD, and Sloan Master's programs and also offers numerous Executive Education programs. There are approximately 175 faculty at the school, including three Nobel laureates.
6. Herbert Hoover Memorial Exhibit Pavilion
This glass-and-wood one-story building next to Hoover Tower exhibits posters, photos, videos and other material from the Hoover Institution Archives.
7. Hoover Tower
Hoover Tower is part of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace. The first nine floors of the 285-foot building house over 1.6 million volumes on social, political and economic change in the 20th and 21st centuries. The Observation Platform on the 14th floor is open to visitors, offering an aerial view of the campus and much of the Bay Area.
8. Memorial Hall and Memorial Auditorium
Memorial Hall was dedicated in 1937 to honor those Stanford students and faculty who died in World War I. The lobby includes plaques inscribed with their names as well as the names of those who died in World War II, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, the Iraq War, and the Afghanistan War.
9. Lane History Corner
10. Wallenberg Hall
Wallenberg Hall is Stanford University's home for research in university-level classroom learning. Its Advanced Resource Classrooms are available for use by Stanford faculty to experiment with new ways of teaching and learning in their subject areas.
11. McClatchy Hall
McClatchy Hall houses the sociology and communication departments.
12. The Oval and Palm Drive
The Oval and Palm Drive mark the gateway to the university. The Oval serves as a relaxing spot for students, faculty and community members to have picnics, play volleyball, fly kites and enjoy the California weather. Palm Drive, lined with roughly 150 Canary Island palm trees, leads to University Avenue and downtown Palo Alto.
13. Jordan Hall
Jordan Hall is the home of Stanford University's well-known psychology department as well as a number of research labs.
14. Sloan Mathematics Center
15. David Packard Electrical Engineering
The David Packard Electrical Engineering Building houses the administrative offices of the Electrical Engineering Department, undergraduate instructional laboratories and Bytes Café.
16. Nanoscale Science and Engineering
The cutting-edge facility includes some of the most advanced nanoscale patterning and characterization equipment available.
17. Yang and Yamazaki Environmental and Energy Building ("Y2E2")
Y2E2 reflects Stanford's commitment to solve global environmental problems by bringing together experts from many disciplines- biologists, earth scientists, ecologists, economists, engineers, legal scholars and policy analysts- under one roof.
18. Jen-Hsun Huang Engineering Center
The Huang Center is home to the School of Engineering and is designed to inspire invention in an environment of creativity and collaboration.
19. Ruth Watis Mitchell Earth Sciences Building
20. Gay Liberation Sculpture
21. Main Quad
Planned and designed by Frederick Law Olmsted in the architectural style of Richardson Romanesque and mission revival, the Main Quad holds the 12 original classrooms of Stanford University.
22. Burgiers of Calais
Auguste Rodin's Burgiers of Calais (1884-95) commemorates the personal sacrifice of six prominent Frenchmen who offered their lives for their fellow townsmen during the English siege of Calais during the Hundred Years War.
23. Memorial Court
24. Memorial Church
Dedicated in 1903 as a memorial to Leland Stanford Sr., Memorial Church is Jane Stanford's personal addition to the University. Although Christian-centered by design, Memorial Church is both non-denominational and interfaith in practice.
25. Class Plaques
Commemorative class plaques line the walkway of the Inner Quad, marking the year of each graduating class. Each class installs its plaque during a special ceremony on Commencement Weekend.
26. Centennial Fountain
27. Cecil H. Green Library
Green Library's two wings house the research collections for the social sciences and humanities, in addition to general collection materials not housed in the smaller research branches.
28. School of Education
The Stanford University School of Education, with an enrollment of about 380 graduate students, is a leader in groundbreaking, cross-disciplinary research and analysis that help shape educational practice and policy.
29. Hoop Fountain
30. J. Henry Meyer Memorial Library
Meyer Library, originally supporting only the undergraduate curriculum, is now a multipurpose multimedia center.
31. Stanford Law School
Stanford Law School combines classic and innovative education to prepare students for an interconnected, global world.
32. Salvatierra Walk
Salvatierra Walk is the site of several key student resources including the Haas Public Service Center, as well as the the Career Development Center and the Office of Accessible Education, both located in the Student Services Building.
33. The Row
The Row offers several options for upper-class housing, including academic, cross-cultural and language theme houses, as well as cooperative, self-operated and Greek houses.
34. Braun Music Center
35. White Plaza
White Plaza is the 200,000 square-foot landscaped area connecting the Main Quad to Tresidder Memorial Union. From rallies to demonstrations, career fairs to concerts, White Plaza is the hub of student activity.
36. White Memorial Fountain ("The Claw")
37. Stanford Bookstore
The Bookstore is the largest supplier of books and Stanford apparel on campus and is the second largest university bookstore in the United States.
38. Old Union
The recently renovated Old Union is home to the Associated Students of Stanford University (ASSU), the Office of Student Affairs, the Office for Religious Life, The Axe & Palm Café and various student services organizations including El Centro Chicano, the Native American Cultural Center and the Asian American Activities Center.
39. Tresidder Memorial Union
Stanford's student union, Tresidder boasts a wide variety of services including a convenience store, eateries, a fitness center, conference rooms, two bank branches, a coffeehouse and a hairstyling salon.