STANFORD UNIVERSITY

THE NATION'S PREMIER UNIVERSITY

The world all at once: Limitless possibilities are at the heart of Stanford University.

Global positioning systems and gene splicing, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and The Grapes of Wrath, the football huddle and the T-formation, Yahoo! and Google—all bear the mark of a Stanford individual. At Stanford, you will find the entire universe of what humankind knows and is endeavoring to know. From your first days on campus, this universe will be yours to explore, yours to discover. Stanford will ask that intellectual curiosity be your compass, that excellence be your true north.

Along the way, you will have the guidance of extraordinary faculty mentors who are at the forefront of advancing the world's understanding of subjects ranging from geophysics to history to bioscience to musical composition. You will also have the friendship of fellow students who will awe and inspire you as much for their humanity as for their talents. As you pursue the questions that interest you most, your mentors and friends will give you the freedom to risk temporary failure as you push yourself both intellectually and personally—along with the freedom and encouragement to pursue what you love.

Your reward will be the exhilaration of discovery—the exhilaration of true excellence.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Stanford's women's lacrosse players are challenged to excel both in the classroom and on the field. In the latest Academic Progress Rate (APR) scores, which measure eligibility, retention and graduation over a four-year period, all 35 teams at Stanford exceeded the NCAA's standards.

Six Cardinal teams earned a perfect 1,000, and the women's lacrosse team nearly did, scoring 997.

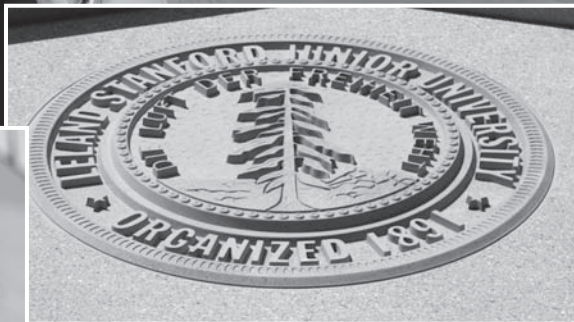

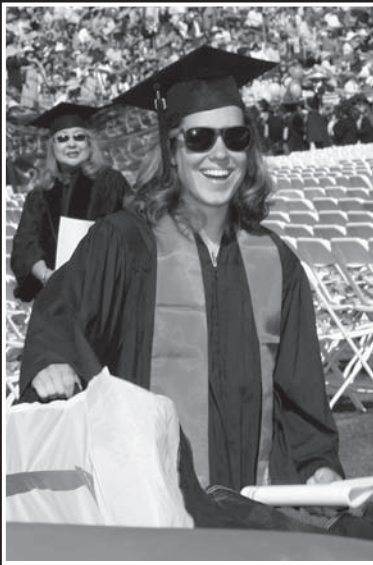

The women's lacrosse team continued to prove its commitment to academic excellence by placing 14 players on the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation's All-Academic team, the most in the conference. In all, Stanford has had 45 players earn a total of 79 All-Academic conference honors since the MPSF began selecting All-Academic teams in 2004.

In addition, 10 current players have earned All-Academic recognition.

LACROSSE CAPITAL OF THE WEST

Lacrosse is the fastest growing team sport in the West, and Stanford has contributed to that growth as a pioneer and trendsetter.

Need proof? Here it is:

Stanford was the first school in the Western United States to make women's lacrosse a Division I varsity sport, in 1995. Now, there are seven.

Stanford became the first Western school to break into the national rankings, in 2001. Now, the Cardinal has five Top 20 finishes in the past eight years.

Stanford became the first from the West to reach the NCAA women's tournament, in 2006. No others have done so.

And Stanford is the only Western team to win multiple conference championships at the Division I level. Now, Stanford has won 12 in the past 15 years, and no other school from the West has won more than one.

As Stanford's program continues to grow in stature, so does lacrosse in the Bay Area and California, as the sport gains inroads far from its Eastern strongholds.

Among the high schools, there were 40 boys' varsity programs in the state in 2000 and hardly a girls' program in existence. Today, there are 210 boys' varsity programs in California and 160 for girls.

The Greater Bay Area alone has 63 girls' varsity programs and 16 high school club teams.

Overall, club participation in Northern California has grown exponentially, and even the pros are taking notice, with two franchises establishing themselves in the Bay Area in recent years: the men's indoor San Jose Stealth introduced professional lacrosse to the West Coast in 2004, and the outdoor San Francisco Dragons arrived in 2005.

Stanford was there from the beginning, and maintains its place as the center of the lacrosse explosion.

TAKING IT TO THE NEXT LEVEL

EXPERIENCED CARDINAL HAVE EYES ON NCAA TOURNAMENT BID

The Stanford women's lacrosse team enters the 2010 season having reached a level of success unmatched in the West, but is looking for more. The Cardinal are coming off five consecutive Mountain Pacific Sports Federation titles, but has received just one at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament (2006). Stanford's chances for the NCAA tournament improves this year with the MPSF receiving an automatic bid to an NCAA play-in game for the first time.

This means the Cardinal who went 14-4 last season and won both the conference regular season and tournament titles, will not be left out of the NCAA Tournament if it can win a sixth-straight conference title this year.

Another conference title appears to be well within reach as the Cardinal return most of last year's team and have added a solid group of newcomers.

Head coach Amy Bokker returns for her second season at Stanford and has already increased the difficulty of the Stanford schedule. Bokker expected Stanford to be chosen for an at-large bid last season and has made qualifying for the NCAA's a top priority this season.

"From the coaching standpoint, it is a lot different coming into the second season than the first," said Bokker. "We know a lot more about what are players are capable of and what to expect with our schedule. We have now been through the conference season and have added to our strength of schedule in the non-conference and the early season."

Attack

The Cardinal attack is loaded with returning talent, including four returning starters in Sarah Flynn, Dana Lindsay, Claire Hubbard and Amanda Schwab. Flynn led Stanford in goals last season with 36 and already has 52 in her first two seasons. Lindsay, last season's third-leading scorer, returns as well after scoring 32 goals last season and totaling 75 in three years at Stanford. Hubbard led Stanford in assists last year with 30, as she acts as the team's point guard. Finally, Schwab added 21 goals to give the returning foursome 97 goals and 37 percent of the Cardinal's scoring. The depth for the attack will come from sophomore Maggie Sachs who scored 11 goals last season and freshmen Ryan O'Shea and Jennifer Lang. Each showed great promise during their high school careers and should contribute to the Cardinal right away.

Midfield

Stanford's midfield has such outstanding depth that Bokker is considering full line subs. This would allow lines of three to play continuously with one another, while receiving enough rest to stay fresh. The midfield begins with the reigning conference player of the year, Lauren Schmidt. Schmidt led Stanford in points last year with 57. The redshirt junior had 35 goals and 22 assists and was a first team All-America by womenslacrosse.com. She is projected to start in the midfield with Julie Christy and Leslie Foard. Christy scored 24 goals last season and helped Stanford earn possession with 34 draw controls. Despite just 14 games in 2009, Foard scored 22 goals. The team's depth is exhibited by Karen Nesbitt, who started all 18 games last year, but this year will be a part of the team's second line. Nesbitt scored 30 goals and tallied 10 assists a year ago, while also leading Stanford with 35 draw controls. Also looking to play significant roles are twin sisters, sophomores, Anna and Emile Boeri. The duo combined for eight goals and 13 assists during their freshmen seasons. Other notables adding depth are senior Sarah Blahnik and junior Leigh Lucas. Carolyn Bradley leads a group of talented freshmen in the midfield.

2010 SEASON PREVIEW

2010 STANFORD LACROSSE

Eleanor Foote

Sarah Flynn

Annie Read

"We are most excited about the depth that we have in the midfield for the upcoming season," said Bokker. "We will utilize by getting a lot of different players playing time."

Defense

The Cardinal defense allowed just 8.83 goals per game last year and could improve upon that number with the talent returning. Senior Eleanor Foote leads the way after leading the team with 40 ground balls and 24 caused turnovers a year ago. Also returning for a second season after an outstanding freshman year is Paige Farmakis. Ashley Aruffo and Catherine Swanson complete the experienced group that will also welcome freshmen Elizabeth Adam and Kathryn Newhouse. In addition to the defenders, the depth of the midfield will allow some players to play multiple positions during the year.

Goalkeeper

Annie Read returns for her second season as a starter in net. Read played every minute of all 18 games last year, finishing with a 14-4 record. Read allowed 159 goals for a 8.83 goals against average and made 122 saves.

"Last year we had essentially a rookie in the cage," said Bokker. Having Annie back with a year of experience will be huge from a defensive standpoint."

The added depth and experience from another championships season from a year ago should make for an exciting season in 2010. The Cardinal will be the favorites to repeat as MPSF champs and will look to make a run in the NCAA tournament.

Amy Bokker

Head Coach
Second Season
William & Mary, 1995

Amy Bokker enters her second season at Stanford to lead a team that has achieved regional success and is on the verge of making national headlines.

In 2009, Bokker led Stanford to its fifth consecutive Mountain Pacific Sports Federation title and a school-record tying 14-4 record that was thought to be enough to earn an NCAA bid. When Stanford completed its season with a win over No. 3 Penn, the Cardinal believed it had earned its second NCAA tournament berth in school history, but did not receive an at-large invitation.

Instead, that return bid to the NCAA's is at the top of its list of goals in 2010. A year after rewriting the Stanford record book, Stanford hopes to break the East Coast domination and make an impact at the NCAA Tournament.

In her first season, Bokker coached three IWLC A All-Region honorees, including Maris Perlman and Lauren Schmidt who were named to the first team.

In addition to her role as the Stanford head coach, Bokker served as the assistant coach for the Canadian National Team in the 2009 FIL World Cup held in Prague, Czech Republic. The team captured the bronze medal, the first medal the country has won in 28 years. Recently Bokker was named an assistant coach for the United States Elite National Team. She will join head coach Ricky Fried and assistant coaches Jessica Wilk Strosberg and Liz Robertshaw to lead the American national squad in the 2013 FIL World Cup.

Building a program is nothing new to Bokker. She was in a similar situation when she took over the George Mason program in 1998 in Fairfax, Va., an area which at that time did not have a strong lacrosse tradition.

Bokker made an immediate impact, guiding the Patriots to the first winning record in school history, with an 8-7 mark. During her tenure at George Mason, Bokker's squads maintained their status as one of the nation's consistently strong programs, with six top-20 national finishes, including a final national ranking of No. 16 in 2008 when the Patriots went 12-5, setting a school record for single-season victories. During her 11 seasons at George Mason, Bokker compiled an 86-94 record and left as the winningest coach in the program's history.

At George Mason, Bokker coached nine All-Americans, two Academic All-Americans, a Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Year, two CAA Defensive Players of the Year and a CAA Rookie of the Year. In all, Bokker coached 18 first-team all-conference players and her players totaled 48 all-conference honors.

Before her arrival at George Mason, Bokker served as the head lacrosse coach at American University for a season, leading the Eagles to a school-best 8-8 record, earning the 1997 CAA Coach of the Year. During her time at American, Bokker was also the assistant coach for field hockey.

The former Amy Umbach is a native of Phoenixville, Pa., where she was a three-sport high school star, in lacrosse, field hockey and swimming. She was a two-time All-CAA first-team choice at William and Mary, where she also played field hockey. She was also named a BRINE/IWLC A All-American her senior season. She earned her master's degree from George Mason in exercise, fitness and health promotion in 2007. Bokker is the sixth head coach in the 16-year history of varsity women's lacrosse at Stanford. Bokker and her husband, Scott, were married on June 12, 2004. The couple has a son, Chase, and a daughter, Alexis.

COACHING STAFF

2010 STANFORD LACROSSE

Brooke McKenzie

Assistant Coach
Second Season
James Madison, 2006

Brooke McKenzie enters her second season at Stanford as a member of Bokker's staff. She is an active international competitor and a veteran of Amy Bokker's staff at George Mason.

In 2009, McKenzie competed for Canada in the World Cup where she scored 12 goals and had five assists in seven games. McKenzie had four multi-goal games to lead Canada to a third-place finish in the tournament.

This was McKenzie's second World Cup, having played on Canada's fourth-place team in 2005. She made her national-team debut in 2003.

McKenzie was a four-year starting attacker at James Madison and helped the Dukes to three Colonial Athletic Association titles and two NCAA quarterfinal appearances.

The Englewood, Colo., native is the daughter of 1980 Pittsburgh Penguin draft pick Steve McKenzie and was born in Corner Brook, in Newfoundland, Canada, while her father was playing minor-league hockey there.

McKenzie received unique insight into coaching during her final season at James Madison, completing a coaching internship under former James Madison head coach Kellie Young. This prior coaching experience helped McKenzie immediately fulfill her duties of assisting with an offensive game plan, recruiting and scouting opponents when she arrived at George Mason.

Jaime Sellers

Assistant Coach
Second Season
William & Mary, 2008

Jaime Sellers returns for her second season as an assistant coach under Amy Bokker.

Sellers graduated from William and Mary in 2008 after a 66-goal season that was good enough to break a school single-season record that had stood for more than 30 years. The All-Colonial Athletic Association first-team midfield player handles the defense and scouting as her main coaching responsibilities.

During 2008, Sellers scored three goals against Stanford and three against Bokker and McKenzie's George Mason team. Over her career, Sellers scored 108 goals and had 19 assists for 127 points.

The native of Kennebunk, Maine, led the Tribe in six categories as a senior (goals, points, draw controls, shots, free position goals, shots on goal) and scored five game-winning goals, while earning All-South Region second-team honors.

Amelia Harris

Volunteer Assistant Coach
First Season
Johns Hopkins, 2009

Amelia Harris begins her first season as a volunteer assistant coach at Stanford. Harris comes to The Farm from Johns Hopkins where she was a goalkeeper for the Blue Jays from 2005-09.

"We are very excited to have Amelia join our staff," said head coach Amy Bokker. "She has so much enthusiasm and is very passionate about teaching our game. The determination she had to come out to the west coast and be a part of Stanford Lacrosse was very impressive to our whole staff."

In addition to being a four-year letter winner, Harris served as a student coach at the Johns Hopkins lacrosse camps during her time at the Baltimore University.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Stanford University at a Glance

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, "Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly."

For the Stanford's on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation's center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months – housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East – the first year foretold of greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, "Even our fondest hopes have been realized."

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

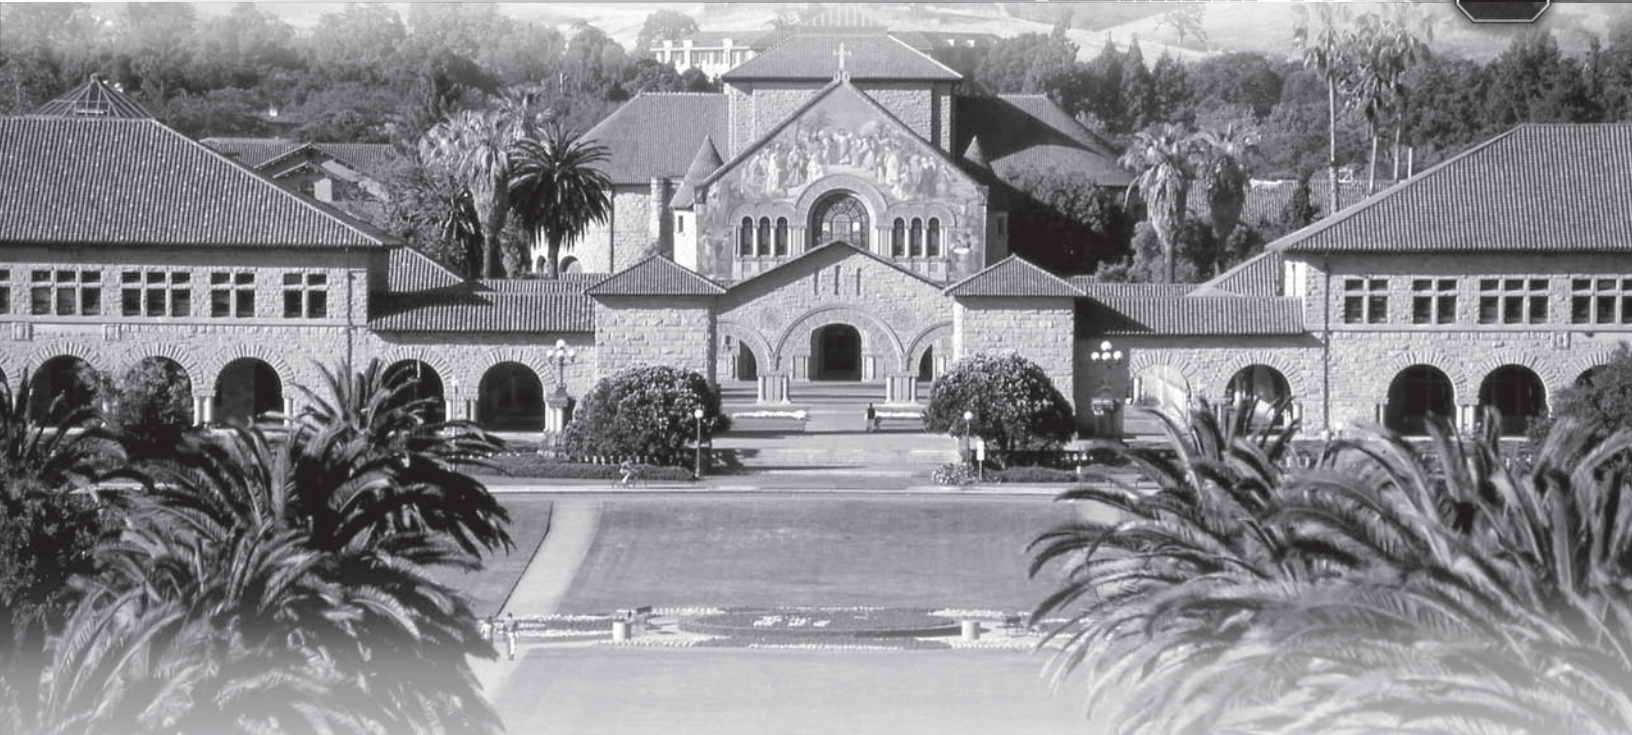

Nearly 116 years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanford's generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is less than hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few minutes north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, tremendous sports and recreation facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Australia, Beijing, Berlin, Cape Town, Florence, Kyoto, Madrid, Moscow, Oxford, Paris, and Santiago.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers 1,874 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. As of the June of 2009, the faculty included 16 Nobel Laureates, four Pulitzer Prize winners, 23 MacArthur Fellows, 19 recipients of the National Medal of Science, two National Medal of Technology recipients, 244 members of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, 136 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 83 National Academy of Engineering members, 46 American Philosophical Society members, 27 members of the National Academy of Education, eight Wolf Foundation Prize winners, six winners of the Koret Foundation Prize and three Presidential Medal of Freedom winners. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently, 15,140 students, of which 6,812 are undergraduates, study on campus. A little more than 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and 8 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, approximately 55 percent are African American, Asian American, International, Mexican American, Native American, Native Hawaiian or Other Hispanic in ethnicity. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class with 89% of those admitted finishing in the top 10% of their high school class. Ninety-eight Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars, 78 have been selected Marshall Award winners, and 53 have been chosen Truman Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in many community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 35 Division I varsity sports. Of Stanford's 97 NCAA titles (111 national), 57 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Forty-nine Stanford-affiliated athletes competed in the 2008 Olympics in Beijing, collecting a school-record 25 medals (eight gold, 13 silver and four bronze). Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,300 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program is more than 4,600, with many students active in more than one sport.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care."

Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

NATIONAL TITLES

Stanford's National Titles

NCAA championships are commonplace at Stanford University, as Cardinal teams have won national titles at an unprecedented rate, including a national-best 80 since 1980 and 57 since 1990. Stanford has won at least one NCAA championship for 33 consecutive years and has won four national titles in a single season nine times.

Nine different Stanford teams have won at least five national titles, including men's tennis (18), women's tennis (16), men's water polo (11), women's swimming and diving (9), men's swimming and diving (8), men's golf (8), women's volleyball (6), synchronized swimming (6) and women's cross country (5). A total of 19 Stanford teams have won at least one national championship.

Stanford teams have won a total of 111 national championships. In NCAA competition, Cardinal teams have won 97 team titles, including 59 men's championships and an NCAA-best 38 women's titles.
