The (Hi)Story of violence

What REALLY Shapes the world?

"There is more power in socially organized masses on the march than there is in guns in the hands of a few desperate men.

Our enemies would prefer to deal with a small armed group rather than with a huge, unarmed but resolute mass of people."

Major nonviolent campaigns have been successful twice as often

The response to the original ban is typical of the new wave of demonstrations in Russia characterised by witty banners and a degree of absurdist humour. After a Moscow rally in December, the protest was re-enacted with Lego models and posted within days. Toy rallies have caught on and taken place in four other Russian cities in the wake of the Barnaul protest.

Despite the ban, the group says it will look for another way.

One possibility, said the activist Sergei Andreev, is a solitary picket, which is allowed to take place without permission from local authorities under Russian law.

LESSONS FROM EGYPT AND ARAB WORLD: How to follow successful revolution with sucesful transition?

1. Focus on VISION not the individual power-holders
2. Assume somebody will try to “overtake” or reverse your revolution
3. Keep up the unity through transition
4. Don’ t proclaim “Game Over” too early

COMMON CHALLENGES > Ukraine

1. Maintaining nonviolent discipline and
2. Getting away from “occupying space” pattern
3. Consolidating victory
4. Maintain unity and fight separatism

LESSONS FROM HONG KONG

How to spread movement to different social groups and plan long term

1. Avoid demanding and risky tactics of concentration too early
2. Build arsenal of different tactics and become “unpredictable”
3. Reach to different social groups outside of only educated, urban and angry
4. Plan for long-term strategic struggle for democracy

We are all Khaled Said

Egyptian youth movement 6 April has revealed an official Egyptian Police document that shows a clear order from the head of Central Police force for all Egyptian police to go out with live ammunition and full weaponry on the second day of the revolution (26 January). This document contradicts what some senior police officials have said in court that there were no orders for policemen to be armed on the day. Photo from Dostor website.

First Team

The years-ahead design and production capabilities of Northrop Aircraft, Inc. are time-proved by the performance of the long-range Scorpion F-89 all-weather interceptor. Today the newest members of the Scorpion family, the F-89Ds, constitute the "first team" of the U. S. Air Force, standing combat-ready at our most critical defense posts. Although the Scorpion's basic lines were laid down years ago, advanced engineering enables it to penetrate into high altitudes where tomorrow's bombers will travel. Now armed with the massive striking power of 104 air-to-air rockets—heaviest punch in the air defense arsenal—the reliable Scorpion, with its two-man crew, can make effective use of even newer weapons as they are proved and produced. Because of this unique design flexibility, the Air Force has gained years and saved millions of tax dollars in build-up to defensive strength. Like its teammate, the Northrop Snark B-62 long-range pilotless bomber, the Scorpion is a product of the creative ability of Northrop Aircraft, Inc.—since 1939 world leaders in the design, development and production of all-weather and pilotless aircraft.
