

CEAS Undergraduate Overseas Language Study Fellowships

These awards support Stanford undergraduates to study Chinese, Japanese, or Korean (other approved languages by petition) overseas in a full-time, pre-approved, accredited language study program for a summer session.

Eligibility Requirements:

- Applicants must be Stanford undergraduate students. Both U.S. citizens and non-citizens may apply.
- Applicants must have completed at least first-year Chinese, Japanese or Korean language (other approved languages by petition) before the fellowship commences.
- Preference will be given to East Asian Studies majors and minors, and to students who have taken a minimum of two East Asian Studies content courses.
- Applicants must apply to at least one of the pre-approved programs for language study AT THE SAME TIME as applying for the language fellowship

Application and Selection Process:

Applications will be judged on a combination of academic achievement, clarity and feasibility of goals, and relevance to future plans. Applicants must:

1. Apply to one of the pre-approved language programs.
2. Complete your Undergraduate Overseas Language Study Fellowships Online Application (redirects to solo.stanford.edu) including upload of Statement of Purpose (max. 2 pages single spaced) and unofficial transcripts.
3. Request one recommendation letter from a relevant faculty member (via online application system)
4. Provide your language instructor with a completed evaluation form for them to fill out and return to CEAS. Language evaluation forms should be delivered directly to John Groschwitz, CEAS Associate Director.

Award Amounts & Registrations

CEAS language study fellowships are intended to provide support for tuition, and partial living and travel costs during the study abroad program. Students are responsible for any costs that exceed the award amount.

- All undergraduate students who study abroad in non-Stanford programs should notify the Bing Overseas Studies office regarding their plans. Information regarding this process can be found here:
