

2015 Beyers' Prize for Excellence in Historical Writing

Stanford undergraduate and graduate students are invited to seek the 2015 Stanford Historical Society Prize for Excellence in Historical Writing. The prize aims to increase awareness of the University's history through the use of the University Archives and other sources. The Society also hopes to encourage good writing and research skills among students and to promote the community's interest in Stanford's history. The word limit is 3000-5000 words, and the essay can be about any aspect of Stanford's history.

Criteria

Judges will consider the following criteria:

- *Relevance of topic to Stanford's history
- *Quality of writing, research and organization

Research Grants

Undergraduates interested in research grants may consult <http://undergraduateresearch.stanford.edu>

Prize

The prize includes a $500 cash award plus one year's free student membership in the Stanford Historical Society.

The prize(s) will be presented at the Historical Society's Annual Meeting in May 2015.

Deadline

An electronic copy must be sent to Daniel Hartwig <dhartwig@stanford.edu>, University Archivist, no later than 5:00 p.m. on Monday, April 6, 2015. Please include email, postal address and telephone number on the cover page.

Questions

For questions and guidance, please contact Daniel Hartwig at dhartwig@stanford.edu.

The judges reserve the rights to select both an undergraduate and graduate winner (with the same prize as above for each) and to select no winner.
