COMMUNITY SERVICES DEPARTMENT NEWS

HIGHLIGHTS THIS WEEK

Eurydice at the Lucie Stern Theatre

Come see Eurydice at the Lucie Stern Theatre, running from January 17-February 1. Written by Tony Award and Pulitzer Prize Nominee Sarah Ruhl, the classic myth of Orpheus and Eurydice is reimagined in this contemporary story, as seen through the eyes of its heroine. With ingenious plot twists and breathtaking visual effects, Eurydice is a poignant love story about life, loss, and unthinkable choices. This is a Community Theatre Partner Event presented by Palo Alto Players.

Palo Alto Recreation Chief Retires After Three Decade Career

Greg Betts, Director of the Community Services Department of the City of Palo Alto, has recently concluded a 31-year career in city government. During his time with the department, Betts championed and drove many recreation improvement projects, such as the renovation of Lytton Plaza and the establishment of the Heritage Park playground. He was honored with a ceremony in City Council which included a standing ovation, plaques of appreciation, and heartfelt testimonials of Betts' impact from his colleagues.
