STANFORD VOLLEYBALL OLYMPIC TRADITION

With three former players competing in 2012's London Olympics, the Stanford program now boasts nine Olympians who have made a total of 17 appearances in the Summer Games. At least one former Cardinal player has appeared on each indoor U.S. Olympic roster since 1988, when Kim Oden '86 became Stanford's first volleyball Olympian.

In 1992, Oden returned to the Team USA roster and helped the squad to a bronze medal in Barcelona. Her sister, Bev Oden '93, joined Kristin Klein '92 on the 1996 team in Atlanta, while former Cardinal players Nancy Reno '88 and Barbra Fontana '87 both made appearances on the beach that year. Fontana and partner Linda Hanley took fourth, while Reno and partner Holly McPeak placed fifth. At the 2000 Sydney Games, Kerri Walsh '00 and Logan Tom '03 both made their inaugural Olympic appearances as members of the indoor team and helped the squad to a fourth-place finish. Then just 19 and preparing for her sophomore year at Stanford, Tom became the youngest player to ever make a U.S. Olympic roster.

Walsh made the move to the beach for the 2004 Games in Athens and claimed the first U.S. gold medal in the history of the sport with partner Misty May-Treanor. Also in 2004, Tom returned to the indoor roster and another young player from The Farm, Ogonna Nnamani '05, followed in Tom's footsteps and became just the second collegian to make a U.S. Olympic women's volleyball team.

At the 2008 Games in Beijing, Tom and Nnamani both made repeat appearances on the indoor squad, while Walsh returned to the beach. Indoors, Tom and Nnamani led Team USA to a 6-2 record, helping the team pull off a pair stunning upsets of No. 2 Italy and No. 3 Cuba to advance to its first gold medal match in 24 years. The squad fell to Brazil to take the silver, capturing just its third all-time medal in women's indoor volleyball. Walsh and May-Treanor made a dominant run through the women's beach tournament to become the first beach team, men or women, to defend a gold medal. The pair never lost a set in seven matches and defeated the top-seeded Chinese team in front of its home crowd to claim the gold.

In London in 2012, Tom made her fourth appearance on the indoor team and was joined by first-time Olympian Foluke Akinradewo '09. Walsh and May-Treanor were in pursuit of their third straight gold medal. The indoor team finished 7-1, falling in the finals to Brazil for the second consecutive Olympic Games. Still searching for the elusive gold medal, the U.S. indoor team has won three silver and one bronze medals.

Walsh and May-Treanor made history in London, becoming the first beach volleyball team of either gender to take home three gold medals after they defeated their American counterparts in the finals. Seeded third, the pair finished the tournament with a 7-0 record. Arguably the greatest beach team in the history of the sport, Walsh and May-Treanor were 21-0 in Olympic matches going back to Athens and 42-1 in Olympic sets.

STANFORD ON THE U.S. NATIONAL TEAM

Stanford women's volleyball has a longstanding connection with the USA Volleyball program. Countless Cardinal players have competed in the U.S. National Team system before, during and after their time on The Farm. On this year's squad, 11 team members have been a part of the USA Volleyball program somewhere along the way. Current junior Carly Wopat was a member of the 2011 U.S. Junior Women's National Team which finished fourth at the FIVB Women's Junior World Championships in Peru.

Stanford has kept a presence on the U.S. National Team since the early 1980's when Kim Oden, an eventual two-time Olympian, trained alongside Stanford teammates Barbra Fontana and Bobbie Broer. Since then, Stanford has maintained a presence with the program nearly every year. During the summer of 2012, Stanford alums Foluke Akinradewo, Alix Klineman, Cassidy Lichtman, Ogonna Nnamani, Kristin Richards and Logan Tom trained and competed with the team. Akinradewo and Tom were a part of the U.S. squad which took home its third straight FIVB World Grand Prix titles, while Lichtman and Richards were a part of the gold-medal winning team at the 2012 Pan America Cup.

STANFORD VOLLEYBALL ON THE AVP TOUR

Over the years, a number of former Stanford players have competed in AVP and other major beach events all around the world.

Stanford's most successful alum to play on the beach is Kerri Walsh '00, who is considered one of the world's best female beach volleyball players. Walsh is a two-time AVP MVP (2003, 2004) and has been part of the Tour's Team of the Year for more than six seasons. She was also named AVP Best Offensive Player in 2003. She was chosen as the FIVB's Best Blocker and Sportsperson for the fourth straight seasons.

With partner Misty May-Treanor, Walsh won 12 of the 15 AVP Crocs Tour events she entered in 2008, never finishing lower than third. Regarded as the most dominant team in the history of the sport, May-Treanor and Walsh set an unprecedented winning streak with 112 match wins in a row and 19 consecutive titles. The golden duo's record setting streak lasted more than a year (Aug. 19, 2007- Aug. 31, 2008) and shattered their own previous record marks of 89 straight match wins and 15 straight tournaments, set before the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens.

MAPLES PAVILION HOME OF CHAMPIONS

Maples Pavilion offers one of the best environments for college volleyball. Built in 1969, it has played host to several of the sport's most memorable collegiate matches.

Maples underwent a $26-million renovation that was completed in 2004-05, ushering in a new era of Stanford Athletics that benefited student-athletes and fans alike. The facility serves as home for the men's and women's basketball teams, along with the women's volleyball program. The men's and women's gymnastics squads, as well as the men's volleyball team, also host some home competitions in the facility.

The renovation, financed entirely through private donations, included a new covered 29,000 square foot concourse around the exterior of the seating area, state-of-the-art concession and restroom facilities with speaker systems, and a four-sided, state-of-the-art, center-hung scoreboard with video and replay capabilities. The renovation also included the new playing court floor, upgraded locker rooms, student-athlete lounges, a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning and training room, a media workroom, a photography office and a courtside room reserved for banquets.

The 7,223-seat structure serves the entire university as a multi-purpose facility. It was originally built at a cost of $3.3 million and was named after its principal donor, Roscoe Maples, a member of the 1904 Stanford class.

In 2009, Stanford welcomed the addition of the Arrillaga Gymnasium and Weight Room, located adjacent to Maples Pavilion, near the southwest entrance. The state-of-the-art facility includes two practice courts for basketball and three practice courts for volleyball in addition to a new varsity weight room. The courts are connected to Maples through an underground tunnel.

Maples Pavilion has earned a reputation as one of the finest facilities in the country, routinely hosting NCAA Championship events. During the 2011-12 campaign, Maples Pavilion played host to the first and second rounds of the NCAA Women's Volleyball Tournament for the seventh consecutive year. Additionally, it played host to several NIT men's basketball games as the Cardinal went on to win its second championship in New York.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Stanford women's volleyball players are challenged to excel both in the classroom and on the court. In the latest Academic Progress Rate (APR) scores, which measure eligibility, retention and graduation over a four-year period, all 35 teams at Stanford exceeded the NCAA's standards.

The program has time and again proven its commitment to academic excellence. Over the past eight years, Cardinal women's volleyball players have been recognized with Pac-12 academic awards 62 times. In 2011, six Stanford players garnered Pac-12 academic honors.

Stanford players have also set themselves apart on the national level. In 2010, Alix Klineman was named the ESPN/CoSIDA Academic All-America of the Year for women's volleyball. Additionally, Cassidy Lichtman and Stephanie Browne became the program's ninth and tenth Academic All-Americans, respectively. Browne was also a first team Academic All-American in 2011. Stanford's previous Academic All-Americans are as follows: Susan Compton (1984), Deidra Dvorak (1984), Kim Oden (1984), Terri Bryson (1985), Kristin Folk (1996, 1997), Ogonna Nnamani (2002, 2003, 2004), Cynthia Barboza (2007, 2008) and Alix Klineman (2009, 2010), Cassidy Lichtman (2010) and Stephanie Browne (2010, 2011).

In 2011-12, Stanford women's volleyball was among the 102 Division I teams recognized for academic excellence with the AVCA Team Academic Award. Boasting a 3.33 combined GPA, Stanford was one of six Pac-12 teams honored.

2012 Season Preview

With a core group of veterans returning and the top-ranked recruiting class in the nation, the 2012 Stanford women's volleyball team has lofty expectations for the upcoming season. The ultimate goal remains the same – win a national championship. Over the years, Stanford has accumulated more NCAA titles, won more NCAA Tournament matches, made more Final Four appearances, and been in the national championship match more times than any other program in the nation.

“The right thing to do with this team is to set the expectations as high as possible,” said head coach John Dunning. “We have expectations every year of striving to win the Pac-12 and the national championship. We want to keep our minds focused on improving throughout the season to see just how good of a team we are.”

Stanford is looking to improve on its fourth-place Pac-12 finish last season. The program's 31-year run in the NCAA Tournament is matched by only one other school and the Cardinal would like to be one of the four teams playing in Louisville in December.

Stanford is under the guidance of 12th-year head coach John Dunning, a three-time Pac-12 Coach of the Year and recent AVCA Hall of Fame inductee. Dunning has coached in more NCAA championship matches than anyone in the history of the sport. Dunning, who is just one of eight active coaches to reach 700 career wins, now holds a career record of 748-159 in 26 seasons as a head coach.

Returning all but one starter from last season, Stanford will depend on its seven upperclassmen for leadership and guidance. The senior class, including Hannah Benjamin, Karissa Cook, Hayley Spelman and Jessica Walker, has produced 72 wins over the past three seasons. Cook was an All-Pac-12 honorable mention pick in 2011, while Benjamin, Spelman and Walker have all been recognized by the conference during their careers. Juniors Rachel Williams and Carly Wopat were both All-Pac-12 and honorable mention AVCA All-Americans a year ago. Defensive specialist Mary Ellen Luck saw plenty of court time as a sophomore, having played in all but two sets last season. However, the absence of Sam Wopat, Carly's twin, will be felt by each member of the team this season.

“I think the upperclassmen learned a lot last season, and because they have been through more and they have less time left, it may have a bigger impact on them,” explained Dunning. “I think all of the returning players went through the same thing. They all went through not succeeding enough. They all went through not being able to handle the toughest moments, not having done it before. They all had their feet in the fire and they are tougher now because of it.”

Also among the letterwinners returning are sophomores Lydia Bai, Morgan Boukather and Kyle Gilbert. Bai was a member of the Pac-12's All-Freshmen team in 2011. Gilbert played in every set last season as the libero or a defensive specialist, while Boukather gained valuable experience in the lineup as an outside hitter.

The five freshmen joining the squad this season will comprise one-third of the roster. Ranked No. 1 as a class by PrepVolleyball.com, middle blocker Inky Ajanaku (Tulsa, Okla.), setter Madi Bugg (Apex, N.C.), outside hitter Jordan Burgess (Fort Myers, Fla.), outside hitter Brittany Howard (Los Altos, Calif.) and middle blocker Megan McGehee (Lee's Summit, Mo.) will strengthen the team and provide depth in several areas.

"It's a very highly-ranked class and it should be," said Dunning. "They are five players that are all rated highly. They all have experience of being the person that their team leaned on in the past. They come in with a lot of experience already. If some right things happen, they can have a big impact on our team and that brings an excitement to our program."

The Cardinal faces yet another challenging schedule in 2012. Stanford begins the season at the Chevron Rainbow Wahine Invitational. The Cardinal will remain on the road for the third annual Nike Volleyball Big Four Classic, hosted this year by Penn State University. Stanford will face the Nittany Lions as well as the Florida Gators during the second week-end of play. Stanford's first match in Maples Pavilion will be an exhibition contest against Jiangsu, a team from China. The Cardinal will also host the Stanford Invitational before jumping into the 20-match Pac-12 slate. In total, Stanford will play 16 matches against teams coming off NCAA Tournament appearances.

"I think probably every team in the Pac-12 will be better than last year, so we have a lot to be prepared for," said Dunning. "The only way I know how to get our team ready for that high level of play is to play as many matches like that in the preseason. We go to Hawaii to play in a tough tournament. This is the third year playing against Penn State, Florida and Texas in the Nike Big Four Classic. We are playing a team from China, and we know the level of play they will bring because we played teams like them last summer in China. We decided to play as tough a schedule as we could find again."

Five Things to Know About Stanford Women's Volleyball

Returning All-Americans

Stanford returns two All-Americans to this year's squad – juniors Rachel Williams and Carly Wopat. Both were honorable mention selections by the AVCA last season, while Wopat was named a first team pick by Volleyball Magazine. The pair combined to produce 54 percent of the team's kills, 50 percent of the team's points and 75 percent of the team's blocks in 2011.

Carly Wopat

"They both did a great job last year, especially when you consider that they were probably in physical pain," said Dunning. "They are tough and they are gifted athletes. They have both worked hard to learn a lot in the past year. Both are coming off of surgery, and may have learned more because of it in the off-season. They were mindful of what they were watching and what they could do on the court. If they both return healthier this season, I think the sky is the limit for them. We are going to lean on them and I think they are ready for that."

Top-Ranked Freshman Class

Stanford's freshman class, consisting of Inky Ajanaku (Tulsa, Okla.), Madi Bugg (Apex, N.C.), Jordan Burgess (Fort Myers, Fla.), Brittany Howard (Los Altos, Calif.) and Megan McGehee (Lee's Summit, Mo.), has been ranked No. 1 overall in the country by PrepVolleyball.com. All five players were high school All-Americans and ranked among the Top 15 on PrepVolleyball's Senior Aces list.

"This is a very big class for us, it is rare for us to sign five student-athletes at one time," said Dunning. "They have been fun to watch over the past several years. They have a lot of experience, are very talented and have been well coached. They will make up one third of our team and will have a significant impact."

By The Numbers

The Stanford women's volleyball program has won more NCAA titles (6), won more NCAA Tournament matches (98), made more Final Four appearances (18), and been in the national championship match (14) more times than any other program in the nation. The Cardinal has captured 17 conference championships and produced 30 or more wins on 15 occasions. It is one of just two programs in the country to have appeared in all 31 NCAA Tournaments, having won all 31 of its first-round matches.

Remembering Sam Wopat

In remembrance of teammate Sam Wopat, who passed away in March, the 2012 Stanford team will have her initials, "SW," embroidered onto their uniforms.

"It has and will continue to impact this team," said Dunning. "It is one of those things you don't get past, but you learn to move forward together and keep her memory with you. There is no question that Sam is going to be with this team this year. We are going to put her initials on our uniform as a tribute to her and as a way to bring her onto the court with us every time we play."

Pac-12 Networks

The launch of the Pac-12 television networks on August 15, 2012 marks the beginning of a new era for the Conference of Champions. Among the televised events will be 82 Pac-12 women's volleyball matches. Stanford will take part in 15 of those broadcasts, starting with an exhibition match against Jiangsu, a team from China, on Sept. 5. The Pac-12 Networks will consist of one national and six regional networks devoted solely to the Pac-12.

"All of the things that have developed in the Pac-12 over the last few years are really exciting," said Dunning. "When you add television on such a large scale, the impact and the changes it will have on your sport are hard to predict, but we all should be excited about this. It is going to change our game and impact the growth on our sport. All of the people who love volleyball are going to get to see 82 Pac-12 matches on television. They are going to be exposed to a very high level like they are all around the country."

2012 STANFORD WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL

John Dunning

Head Coach
12th Season
San Diego State '73

John Dunning is no stranger to success. Few in the history of the sport can compete with the accomplishments of the Cardinal's decorated head coach. In 2012, Dunning, the three-time Pac-12 Coach of the Year and AVCA Hall of Famer, enters his 12th season at the helm of the Cardinal program. In his time on The Farm, he has helped Stanford further strengthen its hold as one of the premier collegiate volleyball programs in the nation.

Dunning has been in the spotlight of NCAA volleyball since he began his coaching career 27 years ago at Pacific. Since then, he has collected four national titles, matching former Cardinal coach Don Shaw for the second-most in NCAA history, and coached in more Division I national title matches (9) than anyone. He has taken all 27 teams he has coached to the NCAA Tournament and led 23 of those teams to an NCAA Regional. Dunning ranks among the top five coaches all-time with an .825 career winning percentage, and among the top 10 active coaches with 748 career wins. Entering the 2012 season, Dunning boasts a 748-159 career record, with a 311-57 (.845) mark at Stanford. In his 11 years on The Farm, Dunning has had 14 athletes earn 31 AVCA All-America honors and developed four AVCA National Players of the Year. His Stanford teams have also posted a 74-23 record in the NCAA Tournament, won six Pac-12 titles and reached the national championship match in six of his 11 seasons as head coach.

At Stanford

Dunning took the reins of the Cardinal program in July 2001 and, in his very first year, coached Stanford to an unprecedented fifth NCAA Championship and ninth Pac-10 title. Dunning's squad swept previously unbeaten Long Beach State in the national title match and finished the year with a 33-2 mark, tying the school record for most wins in a single season. Dunning also became the first Division I head coach to win a national championship in his first season at two different schools (Pacific and Stanford). For his efforts, he was honored as the Pac-10 Coach of the Year as well as the AVCA National Coach of the Year. Dunning had two athletes named AVCA All-Americans, including National Player of the Year Logan Tom. Three players garnered first-team All-Pac-10 honors while one, Ogonna Nnamani, was tabbed Pac-10 Freshman of the Year and ASICS/Volleyball Magazine National Freshman of the Year.

In 2002, Stanford finished second nationally, battling its way back to the NCAA title match. That year, Dunning led the Cardinal to a 32-5 record and another NCAA Final Four appearance. The team finished as the NCAA runner-up, while three players were tabbed AVCA All-Americans and Tom repeated at the AVCA National Player of the Year. Nnamani was honored as an Academic All-American.

In 2003, Dunning led the Cardinal to a 25-7 overall record and its 23rd consecutive appearance in the NCAA Tournament. Nnamani was honored as an AVCA First-Team All-American while teammate Jennifer Harvey was a second-team selection. Newcomer Kristin Richards was tabbed Pac-10 Freshman of the Year as well as Volleyball Magazine's National Freshman of the Year.

In 2004, Stanford reached the national title match for the third time in four years, and once again, captured the NCAA crown with a three-game sweep of Minnesota. Dunning coached the Cardinal to a 30-6 overall record and the sixth national title in school history. Nnamani, Stanford's top player, gained AVCA All-America honors for a fourth-straight season. In addition, Nnamani was named the 2005 Collegiate Woman Athlete of the Year (Honda-Broderick Cup), a 2005 NCAA Today's Top Eight Award recipient, the Pac-10 Player of the Year and received an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. Richards was named a Volleyball Magazine First-Team All-American, and an all-conference first-team selection.

In 2005, Dunning led Stanford to a 26-6 record and a 25th consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. He was also a recipient of the USA Volleyball All-Time Great Coach Award, presented each year by USA Volleyball, the national governing body of the sport, to recognize the all-time great coaches of volleyball.

After a one-year absence, Dunning led Stanford back to the NCAA title match in 2006. Under his guidance, Stanford posted a 30-4 record, claimed its first outright Pac-10 title since 2001 and made an NCAA Tournament run that culminated in its 16th trip to the Final Four. On October 20, 2006, Dunning earned his 600th win as a head coach against Oregon. A school-record four players earned AVCA All-America honors.

In 2007, Dunning continued to build on the tradition of success, leading his team back to the national championship match. Stanford repeated as the Pac-10 Champion for the first time in Dunning's tenure and, for his efforts, he was named the Pac-10 Coach of the Year. Stanford went 32-3 on its way to a 17th NCAA Final Four appearance, and reached the national title match for the fifth time since Dunning took over the program. The Cardinal swept the postseason Pac-10 awards for the first time since 2001, with Alix Klineman earning Pac-10 Freshman of the Year honors, Foluke Akinradewo being named Pac-10 Player of the Year and Dunning earning the distinction as the conference's top coach. For the second consecutive year, a school-record four Stanford players earned AVCA All-America honors. Klineman was named the Volleyball Magazine National Freshman of the Year, while Akinradewo was recognized as the AVCA National Player of the Year.

In 2008, Dunning posted a 31-4 record, led his team to the national championship match for the third year in a row and became the first coach in the sport's history to coach in nine NCAA title matches. The squad went 17-1 in conference play to secure its third consecutive Pac-10 Championship, establishing the most dominant title streak in nearly a decade. The Cardinal opened the NCAA Tournament with four consecutive sweeps for the first time since 1994, then became the first team in NCAA history to overcome an 0-2 deficit in an NCAA semifinal match. For his efforts, Dunning was named the Pac-10 Coach of the Year as well as the Pacific Region Coach of the Year. Three players - Akinradewo, Klineman and Cynthia Barboza - were named AVCA First-Team All-Americans, tying a school record for first-team representatives. Akinradewo was also named the Volleyball Magazine Co-National Player of the Year after shattering the NCAA's career hitting percentage record by more than 20 points.

In 2009, the Cardinal claimed its unprecedented 16th conference championship, including its fourth in a row. With a 23-8 overall record, Stanford appeared in its 29th consecutive NCAA Tournament, the longest streak in the nation. Four players earned AVCA All-America honors - Cassidy Lichtman (first team), Klineman (second team), Janet Okogbaa

(second team) and Gabi Ailes (honorable mention). Additionally, Ailes and Klineman were tabbed Second Team All-Americans by Volleyball Magazine.

In 2010, Stanford continued its Pac-10 dominance, claiming a share of its fifth straight conference title. The Cardinal went 27-4 overall and continued its nation-leading streak with its 30th consecutive appearance in the NCAA Tournament. Stanford reached the regional final for the seventh time in the past decade. Seniors Ailes, Klineman and Lichtman were all named AVCA and Volleyball Magazine All-Americans. Additionally, Klineman was tabbed the National Player of the Year by Volleyball Magazine, becoming Dunning's fourth national player of the year at Stanford.

Last season, the Cardinal finished 22-8 overall and tied for fourth in the newly formed Pac-12 Conference. Stanford once again made the NCAA Tournament, marking its 31st straight post-season appearance. Sophomores Rachel Williams and Carly Wopat received AVCA All-America honorable mention accolades, while Wopat was also a Volleyball Magazine First Team All-American.

John Dunning is the only Division I women's volleyball coach to win an NCAA Championship as a first year head coach at two different schools. In 1985 at Pacific, he became the first first-year coach in NCAA history to win a national title, and in 2001 he repeated the feat as a first-year head coach at Stanford.

In 1985, Dunning stepped onto the Pacific campus, guided the team to a national title in his first year as a collegiate head coach and was named the Volleyball Monthly National Coach of the Year. Over his 16 seasons, Dunning led his teams to a combined 43-15 record in postseason action, an unmatched 10-1 record in Big West Conference Tournament play and a stellar 33-14 mark in the NCAA Tournament. Of the 16 squads coached by Dunning, 14 reached NCAA Regionals, advancing to the regional championship match seven times. Four of Dunning's squads reached the NCAA Final Four, including the two national championship teams, the 1990 national runner-up team and his 1999 squad that went 32-3.

In 2000, his final year with the program, Dunning earned Big West Coach of the Year honors for the second straight season, as the Tigers won a second consecutive Big West title. His squad posted a 28-4 overall record, reached a regional semifinal and had two players named All-Americans.

The Cardinal is 641-111 (.852) during her association with the program, having won six NCAA Championships and 13 Pac-12 Championships. From 1990-96, Corlett founded and coached the Griffin Volleyball Club and immediately established it as one of the nation's top programs. Her 1994 18-and-under team took third place at the Junior Olympics and featured future Stanford great Lisa Sharpley, as well as several other top collegiate players. In recognition, USA Volleyball named Corlett the Outstanding Female Junior Olympic Coach for 1994. Corlett also helped start Vision Volleyball Club and Club Yahoo.

Corlett received a bachelor's degree in mathematics from UCLA in 1981. At UCLA, Corlett played three varsity sports and was named the All-University Athlete of the Year in 1979. She was the national badminton champion in 1977 and won the Broderick Award for that sport. # 2011 In Review

2011 Season In Review

Despite an early exit from the postseason, the 2011 Stanford women's volleyball team had much to be proud of at the conclusion of the collegiate season. The Cardinal (22-8) posted its 11th straight 20-win campaign under 11th-year head coach John Dunning.

Stanford finished tied for fourth in the newly formed Pac-12 Conference with a 15-7 mark in league games. The team made its 31st consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance, one of only two schools in the nation to advance to the postseason all 31 years, and finished with a No. 14 national ranking.

Sophomores Rachel Williams and Carly Wopat, who earned All-Pac-12 Conference honors, were tabbed honorable mention AVCA All-Americans. Wopat also nabbed first team Volleyball Magazine All-America accolades. Junior Karissa Cook garnered All-Pac-12 honorable mention honors, while redshirt freshman Lydia Bai was named to the All-Pac-12 Freshmen team.

Preseason

The Cardinal opened the season with a perfect 6-0 record in preseason matches. It marked the second straight year Stanford accomplished that feat. The preseason included three wins over ranked opponents and four victories over squads who would appear in the postseason.

After sweeping Delaware and Rice in Houston, Texas during the opening weekend, the Cardinal posted four-set wins over Notre Dame and No. 18 Duke at the Stanford Invitational. The Cardinal closed out the preseason by capturing its second straight Nike Volleyball Big Four Classic tournament title. Stanford registered wins over No. 2 Penn State, its second win over the Nittany Lions in as many seasons, and No. 7 Florida. Cook, the MVP of the Rice Invitational, and Wopat earned all-tournament honors, while Williams was tabbed the tournament's MVP.

Pac-12 Play

Stanford hit its first speed bump of the season, opening Pac-12 Conference play at No. 1 California just three days after the conclusion of its preseason. The Golden Bears posted a four-set win over the Cardinal and won the battle of No. 1 versus No. 2 in the nation. Stanford hit just .103 as a team in the match, its lowest total of the year.

After wins at home against Pac-12 newcomers Utah and Colorado, Stanford went back to the drawing board after two losses in Los Angeles, and reeled off nine straight victories - its longest winning streak of the season. During that stretch, the Cardinal swept the season series against the Arizona schools and posted wins over No. 2 Washington, No. 4 USC and No. 15 Oregon. Following the matches against the Washington schools, Cook earned Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Week and nabbed the AVCA National Player of the Week honors.

Unfortunately, the sweep over the fourth-ranked Trojans on Oct. 28, which capped the nine-match win streak, would be the last win over a ranked opponent for the Cardinal in 2011. Stanford would close out the Pac-12 season with a .500 record (4-4).

Postseason

Despite the lull, it was time to wipe the slate clean and prepare for the postseason. Stanford earned the No. 11 overall seed in the tournament and was scheduled to host the first and second rounds at Maples Pavilion.

The Cardinal drew Sacred Heart, the champions of the Northeast Conference, in the opening round match. Stanford knocked off the Pioneers in four sets to advance to face No. 22 Michigan in the second round. Wopat stole the show against Sacred Heart, registering a career high and Stanford NCAA record 13 blocks to go with nine kills. Williams led all players with 18 kills and 11 digs on a .350 attack percentage. Stanford has now won all 31 of its opening round matches in the NCAA Tournament.

Unfortunately, the win over the Pioneers would be the last for the Cardinal in 2011 as it dropped a four-set second round match to Michigan the next day.

Stanford, ranked preseason No. 6, remained in the top-10 of the AVCA poll all season until the final poll on Dec. 20. The Cardinal was 14-0 when hitting .250 or better in matches, but just 8-8 when hitting under the .250 mark. Stanford was 21-1 when it posted a higher hitting percentage than its opponents.

As a team, the Cardinal finished the year among the top-50 in the nation in several statistical categories, including leading the nation in blocks per set (3.18). Stanford was 20th in assists (13.23), 36th in kills (13.93), 38th in hitting percentage (.248) and 48th in digs (16.81).

NCAA Championship Teams

Expectations were once again high for Don Shaw's Stanford club as it entered the 1992 season.

The Cardinal was coming off its best season yet, a 30-2 campaign that included a Pac-10 title and an 18-0 conference record. But the graduation of three players – Nicole Appleman, Amy Cooper and Kristin Klein – who had a combined eight seasons of starting experience, meant that the 1992 squad would not have it easy.

Easy it wasn't, but the Cardinal still achieved its ultimate goal – winning its first-ever NCAA title. The Cardinal (31-2) did it by upsetting previously unbeaten UCLA 15-8, 15-9, 6-15, 15-10 in the championship match in Albuquerque, NM.

Stanford won the crown on the shoulders of three seniors - Carrie Feldman, Bev Oden and Jennifer Jackson – and a standout newcomer, freshman Cary Wendell. Oden led the team for the season with 478 kills and Feldman, the team's setter, notched 1,248 assists.

The road to Albuquerque was definitely not an easy one. Stanford opened the season with a grueling eight-match road trip, but topped three ranked opponents and came home 8-0. Stanford then rallied through Pac-10 play, faltering only in its two meetings with UCLA. After UCLA handed Stanford its second loss of the season, however, the Cardinal would never lose again. Stanford closed the regular-season with a nine-match win streak, and gained momentum for the NCAA Tournament.

Stanford was anxious for a rematch with UCLA in the NCAA final, and the team got its wish. After sweeping Pittsburgh at home, the Cardinal captured the Midwest Regional crown by topping Penn State in three games and Illinois in four. In its first Final Four appearance in five years, the Cardinal then downed Long Beach State in four games to earn another chance at the Bruins.

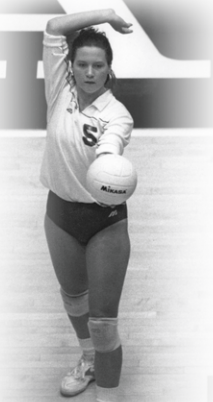

The third time turned out to be a charm when the Bruins and Cardinal met in the title match. Behind all-tournament selections Feldman, Oden and Wendell, the Cardinal avenged its previous two losses to the Bruins with a four-game win to claim its first NCAA title.

1994

After taking out three Pac-10 rivals already in the NCAA tournament, it was only fitting that Stanford should see UCLA, another Pac-10 foe, on the other side of the net in the championship match. The Cardinal and Bruins had already met twice previously in a title match, including Stanford's 1992 National Championship season. The Bruins, however, had also taken a title match from the Cardinal in the past and were responsible for the only loss on Stanford's impressive 1994 record.

But like 1992, Stanford came out on top, defeating its California rival 15-10, 5-15, 16-14, 15-13. The win helped the Cardinal claim its second NCAA title in three years, and conclude its best season ever. Junior Cary Wendell, the National Player of the Year, was the Cardinal standout, but All-American Marnie Triefenbach and a pair of promising newcomers – Kristin Folk and Lisa Sharpley – helped lead the way. The Cardinal finished with a 32-1 record and its third Pac-10 title.

For the second straight season, Stanford entered the 1994 campaign ranked No. 1 in the country. With a young team in 1993, the Cardinal had gone 22-7 and lost in the NCAA Third Round. And with three freshmen in the starting lineup, the 1994 team was even younger.

Stanford had no trouble living up to the ranking, however, winning its first 20 matches. The Cardinal lost just four games during that stretch, which included wins over UCLA and eight other ranked opponents. The Cardinal finished the regular season with a Pac-10 title and a 27-1 record, blemished only by a five-game loss to UCLA.

The NCAA Tournament featured familiar opponents, as the Cardinal raced to the Final Four with three-game sweeps of Washington, Arizona State and USC. In the NCAA semifinal match, Stanford shut down Ohio State's highly-touted offense in a three-game win.

Stanford battled UCLA, the only team that it had fallen to in 1994, for the NCAA title in Austin, Texas. With the match tied at one game apiece, the Cardinal rallied back from late deficits in games three and four to take down the Bruins. Down 13-10 in the fourth game, Stanford reeled off the next five points, culminated by Eileen Murfee's block, to clinch the national title.

Lisa Sharpley

Stanford did more than just win its third NCAA Women's Volleyball Championship on Dec. 21, 1996. It turned in one of the most dominating performances in collegiate women's volleyball championship history.

In that championship match, Stanford defeated Hawai'i 15-7, 15-3, 15-5 in just 91 minutes before a national television audience. The 15 points scored by the Rainbow Wahine was the lowest in championship match history and the second lowest in NCAA Final Four history. Stanford finished the season with a 31-2 record, and was led by veterans Lisa Sharpley and Kristin Folkl along with freshman sensation Kerri Walsh.

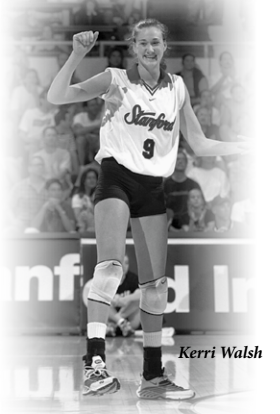

Ironically, the turning point of Stanford's season came against the Rainbow Wahine in early November. After a disappointing setback against Washington State just six days earlier, Stanford stunned top-ranked Hawai'i in its own arena, putting on a show for the sold-out crowd.

Stanford was untouchable from that point on. The Cardinal won its final 14 matches and lost just two games during that stretch, which included eight wins over ranked opponents. The Cardinal went on to finish 17-1 in the Pac-10 and claim its third-straight conference title.

The NCAA Tournament featured more of the same. Stanford lost just one game in its five postseason matches, and only one match lasted more than two hours. The Cardinal swept Colorado State, then USC and Washington State, to reach the Final Four. In the squad's national semifinal match, it bounced back from a game one loss to top Nebraska, 3-1.

The highly-anticipated rematch with Hawai'i proved to be no contest. Hawai'i's only lead of the match was 1-0 in the third and final game. National Freshman of the Year and Final Four MVP Kerri Walsh ended matters with a cross-court kill to clinch Stanford's third NCAA title in five years.

The 1997 Stanford women's volleyball seniors turned in numerous show-stopping performances over the course of their four-year run atop the collegiate world, but saved the most memorable performance for last.

Kristin Folkl, Barbara Ifejika, Debbie Lambert, Paula McNamee and Lisa Sharpley made their 125th and final win one for the ages as they outlasted Penn State in five games in one of the most thrilling NCAA Championship matches ever. The fivesome further etched its name into the national record book by becoming the first class ever to win three women's volleyball national titles in four seasons.

Stanford started the season 5-2, dropping two early battles with Penn State. The Cardinal, however, would not lose again. In fact, the team lost just six games the rest of the way en route to a 28-match winning streak and an undefeated record in the Pac-10.

The Cardinal's domination continued in the postseason, as it blew by Oklahoma, Colorado and UC Santa Barbara to earn a trip to Spokane, Wash. for the Final Four. Stanford won an exciting five-game battle with Long Beach State in the national semifinal and earned a third chance at Penn State.

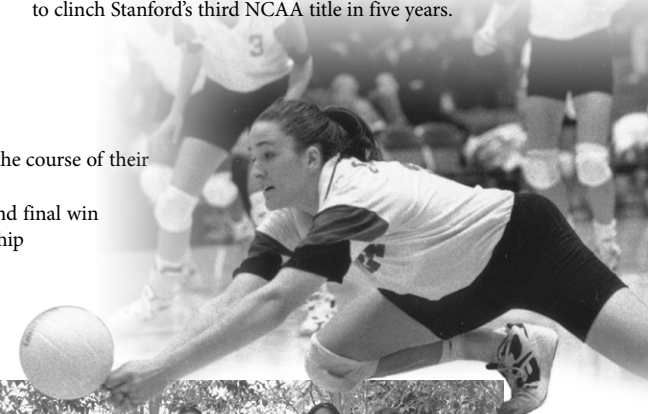

This time, a national title was at stake and the Cardinal was more than ready to defend its 1996 crown.

Stanford rolled through the first two games, 15-10, 15-6 before Penn State took a decisive game three, 15-2. Game four featured 58 sideouts and lasted 44 minutes, but the Nittany Lions reeled off two consecutive points at 15-15 to send the match to five games.

Stanford took immediate control in the fifth game, scoring six of the first eight points. The Nittany Lions pulled the score to 13-9 before the Cardinal put the match away in fitting fashion. Folkl wrapped up her brilliant collegiate career with back-to-back kills that gave Stanford (33-2) its fourth national title.

2001

No one was quite sure what to expect of the 2001 Stanford women's volleyball team - not even new head coach John Dunning. But as the season progressed, everyone could sense something magical was happening.

The Cardinal played its first 11 matches on the road to open the season, and went 10-1 with a four-game loss to Long Beach State near the end of the trip. Stanford would encounter its next roadblock in conference play in Los Angeles, falling to USC in four games.

That loss would prove to be the last for Stanford in 2001. A string of 19 consecutive wins followed - some easy, some hard - but all built character. In the match to decide the Pac-10 Championship, the Cardinal fell behind 0-2 to Arizona, but rallied to win the final three games and take the match. The victory gave Stanford its seventh Pac-10 title in eight years and the knowledge that it could win big games.

Stanford breezed past Nevada, San Jose State, Utah and Texas A&M to reach the Final Four, where second-ranked Nebraska was waiting. The Cardinal swept the Huskers and found itself in its ninth national championship match. And so the season came down to this - Stanford would face top-ranked and undefeated Long Beach State for the title, the same team the Cardinal had lost to early in the season. But this wasn't the same Cardinal that had faced the 49ers in late September.

Long Beach State reached game point at 29-27 in the first game, but the Cardinal battled and earned a 31-29 come-from-behind win. Stanford won another tight contest in the second game, taking a 30-28 decision from the 49ers. In game three, Stanford continued to fight and a Cardinal block by Logan Tom and Tara Conrad closed out the game and the match at 30-25, giving Stanford (33-2) an unprecedented fifth national championship.

National Player of the Year Logan Tom was tabbed MVP of the Final Four while teammates Ashley Ivy, Ogonna Nnamani and Robyn Lewis earned all-tournament honors.

2004

It was a season of ups and downs for the 2004 Cardinal women's volleyball team. The squad began the season ranked sixth in the nation, dropped to as low as 14th in the middle but, in the end, thanks to hard work and dedication, Stanford captured yet another NCAA title.

Senior Ogonna Nnamani, the 2004 National Player of the Year, was the anchor of the Cardinal, but sophomore All-American Kristin Richards and freshman setter Bryn Kehoe helped lead the charge to the title.

Stanford started the season a shaky 3-2 and by mid-season had chalked up a 15-6 mark. The Cardinal, however, was ready to make a move straight to the top. The squad ran off 15 straight victories, including a 30-23, 30-27, 30-21 sweep of Minnesota in the national championship match. In its 15-match march to the NCAA crown, the Cardinal lost only seven games and won 45. Stanford stomped through the back half of the Pac-10 schedule, avenging losses to conference foes USC and Washington the second time around. In the opening NCAA rounds, the Cardinal routed Jacksonville before edging Florida on the Gators' home court. The team was then perfect at Regionals, sweeping Texas and Wisconsin to advance to the Final Four. The Cardinal handed the Pac-10 Champion Washington Huskies another loss in the NCAA semifinals and earned the right to face Minnesota for another national title.

The Cardinal, with momentum from its semifinal win over Washington, scored a three-game sweep over the Golden Gophers in the championship match, before an arena crowd of 8,826 and an ESPN nationally-televvised audience.

Stanford faced early deficits in each of the three games, but had no trouble bouncing back and pulling out wins. Minnesota's 6-3 advantage in the first game was its last before a series of Cardinal runs put Stanford in control. A 6-4 lead in game two was the Golden Gophers' last before the Cardinal stormed back and a 9-6 advantage in game three was also quickly reversed by Stanford. Nnamani, who set an NCAA Tournament record with 145 kills, pounded down her 29th of the match to seal Stanford's unprecedented sixth national title.

Coaching History

Bruce Downing

1976

Bruce Downing has the distinction of being Stanford's inaugural varsity women's volleyball coach, guiding the program when it first gained varsity status in 1976. That first year, Stanford posted a 9-3 record (.750) and finished second at the Northern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (NCIAC) Championship.

Art Lambert

Art Lambert coached the Stanford women's volleyball team in 1977. In a one-year stint, he led the Cardinal to a 23-7-1 overall record, an 11-2 mark in NorCal Conference play and its first league title. Lambert was also the men's volleyball coach from 1976-78 and led the team to two conference titles and a Northern California Regional Championship berth. In addition, he was a very successful water polo coach on The Farm, leading the men's team for three years. In his time with the water polo program, he won two Pac-8 titles and claimed the 1976 NCAA Championship. He was the head coach of the U.S. Pan American Games team that won a gold medal in water polo in 1967, and also guided the U.S. at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

Fred Sturm

Fred Sturm took over the Stanford women's volleyball team in 1978 and spent the next eight seasons building it into a nationally recognized and respected program. Sturm compiled an impressive 193-83-3 (.699) record during his tenure, winning two conference titles, making five NCAA Championship appearances and leading the team to national runner-up finishes in 1984 and 1985. He led the Cardinal to a fifth-place NCAA finish on its first trip to the NCAA Tournament in 1981, then guided the team to four straight trips to the Final Four. He was tabbed WCAA Co-Coach of the Year after winning his first conference title with the program in 1984, then reaped Pac-West Coach of the Year honors the following season. Sturm also coached the Stanford men's volleyball team from 1979-90 and was named the 1989 ASICS NCAA Coach of the Year after his squad finished second in the nation. He was the head coach of the 1992 men's U.S. Olympic Team in Barcelona, and also coached the U.S. at the 1987 World University Games.

Don Shaw

1984-1999

Don Shaw spent 16 years as the Stanford women's head coach (1984-99), during which he led the team to unparalleled success. Shaw guided the Cardinal to four NCAA Championships (1992, 1994, 1996, 1997) and 10 conference titles, including six Pac-10 crowns in a row between 1994 and 1999. Shaw compiled a career winning percentage of .863 (440-70), which still ranks as the best in NCAA history, and coached 15 players to 35 AVCA All-America awards. In NCAA Tournament action, he tallied a record of 50-12, taking Stanford to 12 Final Fours and eight NCAA championship matches in 16 seasons. He was named AVCA National Coach of the Year in 1991 and took home Volleyball Magazine National Coach of the Year honors in 1997. Additionally, he was Regional/District Coach of the Year three times (1991, 1994, 1997) and a four-time conference coach of the year (1985, 1987, 1991, 1997). Shaw also served as an assistant coach for the gold medal-winning U.S. Men's National Team at the 1982 National Sports Festival, as well as an assistant for the U.S. Women's National Team at the 1991 Pan-Am Games in Havana, Cuba. He began his coaching career at Stanford in 1980 as an assistant to the women's program, then was named co-head coach of both the men's and women's teams with Fred Sturm in 1984. After two seasons as co-head coach of both programs, Shaw took sole control of the women's program in 1986. He guided the Cardinal through 14 more successful seasons until retiring from the women's program in 1999. In 2001, he accepted the head coaching position with the Stanford men's program. In six seasons as head men's coach, Shaw collected a 90-79 (.533) record. In December 2008, he was inducted into the AVCA Hall of Fame.

The Nation's Premier University

The world all at once: Limitless possibilities are at the heart of Stanford University.

Global positioning systems and gene splicing, One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest and The Grapes of Wrath,

Yahoo! and Google—all bear the mark of a Stanford individual. At Stanford, you will find the entire universe of what humankind knows and is endeavoring to know. From your first days on campus, this universe will be yours to explore, yours to discover. Stanford will ask that intellectual curiosity be your compass, that excellence be your true north.

Along the way, you will have the guidance of extraordinary faculty mentors who are at the forefront of advancing the world's understanding of subjects ranging from geophysics to history to bioscience to musical composition. You will also have the friendship of fellow students who will awe and inspire you as much for their humanity as for their talents. As you pursue the questions that interest you most, your mentors and friends will give you the freedom to risk temporary failure as you push yourself both intellectually and personally—along with the freedom and encouragement to pursue what you love.

Your reward will be the exhilaration of discovery—the exhilaration of true excellence.
