

Options for those interested in Entrepreneurship, Program Management and Directing in International Arenas

Programs and Fellowships

Center for Entrepreneurial Studies

<http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/ces>

The Center for Entrepreneurial Studies (CES) is building a dynamic global community of entrepreneurs and thought leaders who are changing the world. We accomplish this by: supporting ground-breaking research and education that advances entrepreneurial thinking, connecting, enabling, and inspiring Stanford students and alumni to create and scale innovative new ventures, and Creating a hub for the interests and pursuits of the entrepreneurial community —faculty, students, alumni, practitioners, and investors.

Center for Social Entrepreneurship and Social Innovation Fellowship

<http://csi.gsb.stanford.edu/social-innovation-fellowship>

With an approach that breaks down boundaries and promote the mutual exchange of ideas and values across sectors and disciplines and between theory and practice, the purpose of the CSI is to build and strengthen the capacity of individuals and organizations to develop innovative solutions to social problems and to create a networked community of leaders actively building a more just, sustainable, and prosperous world. Current students and recent alumni who have an idea for developing a practical, innovative, and sustainable approach to benefit society and invited to apply for a Social Innovation Fellowship, and receive both financial and oversight support to start a new nonprofit organization. The fellowship is available to a joint MA/GSB or SUSE student working with a GSB student.

Draper Hills Summer Fellows Program

<http://draperhills.stanford.edu/>

Launched in 2005, the Draper Hills Summer Fellowship on Democracy and Development Program (DHSFDD) is a three-week executive education program that is hosted annually at Stanford University's Center on Democracy, Development, and the Rule of Law. The program brings together a group of 25 to 30 mid-career practitioners in law, politics, government, private enterprise, civil society, and international development from transitioning countries. This training program provides a unique forum for emerging leaders to connect, exchange experiences, and receive academic training to enrich their knowledge and advance their work.

The Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies at Stanford University

<http://fsi.stanford.edu/>

FSI is not a degree-granting institution, but undergraduate and graduate students will find plenty of helpful resources, including fellowships, classes offered by FSI faculty, research opportunities, information on the two Undergraduate Honors Programs offered by FSI centers, and on Stanford Health Policy and the Global Health Corps. Courses incorporated with FSI and the Graduate School of Education can be found at: <http://fsi.stanford.edu/courses/list/0/0/3/>

Stanford Ignite

<http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/ignite>

Part-time academic program from mid-Jan to mid-March that brings together Stanford graduate students and Bay area Professionals who are interested in learning about entrepreneurship and launching an enterprise.

Program on Social Entrepreneurship (PSE)

<http://pse.stanford.edu/>

Launched in 2011 by Kavita Ramdas, former CEO of the Global Fund for Women, the Program on Social Entrepreneurship (PSE) at the Center on Democracy, Development and the Rule of Law seeks to actively integrate the on-the-ground experience of social entrepreneurs – creative and determined global leaders, activists, human rights defenders, advocates for gender justice – from around the world with cutting-edge academic research at Stanford University. Building a tangible bridge between academia and practice, the PSE will generate innovative approaches to shape more inclusive models of democracy, advance sustainable and equitable development and catalyze social change.

Stanford Entrepreneurship Network (SEN)

<https://sen.stanford.edu/>

As a single point of contact for entrepreneurship at Stanford, the Stanford Entrepreneurship Network (SEN) is a federation of two dozen entrepreneurship-related campus organizations that conduct research, teach courses and/or provide outreach services.

Stanford Institute for Innovation in Developing Economies

<http://www.gsb.stanford.edu/seed>

The Institute, known informally as SEED, seeks to stimulate, develop, and disseminate research and innovations that enable entrepreneurs, managers, and leaders to alleviate poverty in developing economies. SEED's work is based on the belief that a critical route for economic growth is through the creation of entrepreneurial ventures and by scaling existing enterprises to support action by entrepreneurs, managers, and leaders to scale their organizations and spur innovation.

Stanford Program on International and Cross-Cultural Education (SPICE)

<http://spice.stanford.edu/>

SPICE is a program of the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies (FSI), an interdisciplinary center at Stanford University that conducts research on key international issues related to security, political economy, the environment, and health policy. SPICE curriculum publications serve as a bridge between FSI and K-14 schools.

Coursework

Courses listed under the Organization and Leadership concentration in POLS

*2012-2013 Course information listed below, subject to change. Please visit <http://explorecourses.stanford.edu/browse> for up to date information.

Course Number	Course Title	Instructor	Term	Special Notes
CEE 251	Negotiation	Christensen	Win	Application required before first day of class.
EDUC 131	Mediation for Dispute Resolution	Krumboltz	Aut
EDUC 224 A/B	Social Entrepreneurship and Social Innovation	Aubry/Wei	Spr
EDUC 249	Theory and Issues in the Study of Bilingualism	Valdes	Aut
EDUC 256C	Negotiation and Influence	Curhan	Not given this year	Limited enrollment; advance application required; see http://comm.stanford.edu/faculty/curhan
EDUC 288	Organization Studies: Theories and Analyses	McFarland	Aut
EDUC 290	Instructional Leadership: Building Capacity for	Jaquith	Not offered this year

	Excellent Teaching
EDUC 354X	School-Based Decision Making	Hoagland	Win	Enrollment by instructor consent only. Please email instructor to inquire about the application process. Priority will be given to students in the POLS and MA/MBA programs.
EDUC 377	Comparing Institutional Forms: Public, Private, Nonprofit	Powell	Not offered this year
EDUC 377B	Strategic Management of Nonprofits	Meehan	Win	Enrollment by department consent only. Enrollment preference for MA students in the POLS program. Contact Klfisher@stanford.edu for application information.
EDUC 385X	Leadership Issues in Instructional Change in Small Districts	Hakuta	Not offered this year
EDUC 386X*	Leadership and Administration in Higher Education	Ehrlich	Spr	There is a $20 course fee for required class case studies that will be automatically applied to your student account upon enrollment.
EDUC XXX	TBA	TBA	TBA
GSBGEN 569	Online Financial Training for Managers and Entrepreneurs in Developing Economies	Jorasch/Sorensen	Not offered this year.
LAW 327	Introduction to Organizational Behavior	Lowery	Win
MS&E 254	The Ethical Analyst	Howard	Spr
MS&E 274	Dynamic Entrepreneurial Strategy	Tse	Win
PUBPOL 183	Philanthropy and Social Innovation	Arrillaga	Spr	Must attend first class; limited enrollment.

Clubs and Major Events

Entrepreneurship Week 2013

<https://sen.stanford.edu/e-week>

Stanford Entrepreneurship Week (E-Week) 2013 will take place from Wednesday, February 27 through Wednesday, March 6, 2013.

Stanford E-Week highlights the breadth and abundance of entrepreneurial activities hosted on the Stanford campus. Stanford E-Week 2013 will feature lectures, panel discussions, hands-on challenges, and networking events

Entrepreneur Club

<http://www.gsbeclub.org/home>

Stanford is a leader in entrepreneurship. The E-Club is the largest professional club at the GSB and faces a responsibility to promote the understanding and development of starting new companies. Our team is committed to bringing the E-Club to the next level by enhancing the learning experiences for students curious about entrepreneurship (a forum to learn) and by defining an action-oriented road map for students looking to launch a company (a path to launch).

Entrepreneurship Corner

<http://ecorner.stanford.edu/>

Stanford University's Entrepreneurship Corner offers 2000 free videos and podcasts, featuring entrepreneurship and innovation thought leaders. Start exploring now.

Education Club

The Education Club engages Stanford business and education school students in discussion about education issues, their role in education, and business' role in education. The club grew out of the 1994-95 Public Management Initiative on Education. [Email stanfordp4e_leadership@gsb.stanford.edu]

Annual Stanford Social Entrepreneurship Exchange (S2E2)

<http://csi.gsb.stanford.edu/event-registration-s2e2>

This event welcomes undergrads and graduate students across campus --- from those who are just learning about social entrepreneurship to those who are ready to launch a social venture tomorrow, and everyone in between!

Competitions

Kellogg's Education Innovation Case Competition (<http://www.kellogg.northwestern.edu/Departments/seek/extra-cur/levy/eicc.aspx>)

Education Leadership Case Competition (<http://www.edcase.org/index.html>)

Marshall International Case Competition (<http://students.marshall.usc.edu/undergrad/international-programs/micc/>)