

“Princess”

I just wanted to let you all know-last weekend we took our dog, “Bear”, down to the shelter to meet a possible friend. He didn’t take to any of the dogs we looked at, so Ramona suggested one that we had barely even noticed, a white boxer named “Blanca.”

The two of them seemed to hit it off and we took her home the next day!! After recovering from her spay the two of them are already the best of buddies-playing and sleeping together like they’ve always been together.

She never responded to “Blanca,” so we went through a couple of names and the only thing that this little all white and pink girl comes to? “Princess,” of course!

I wish I had recorded the first time she saw her new yard, it was incredible. She just ran through the grass rubbing her face in it and giving us and “Bear” continuous “thank you” kisses.

Thank you, Ramona, for giving us the opportunity to meet and take her home, she’s such a doll and doing so well for only being with us a week!
