

Global Development and Poverty SEMINAR SERIES

Stanford | SEED

Stanford Institute for Innovation
in Developing Economies

Stanford | FSI Freeman Spogli
Institute for International Studies

Stanford Global Development and Poverty — GDP — is a university-wide initiative of Seed in partnership with FSI.

Please RSVP by 2/17/2016

ecryst@stanford.edu

gdp.stanford.edu

Friday 2/19/2016 at 12 pm

Knight Management Center room C106

Everything That Can Go Wrong in a Field Experiment

Panelists

Eran Bendavid, Assistant Professor of Medicine

Beatriz Magaloni, Associate Professor of Political Science and Senior Fellow at FSI

Scott Rozelle, Helen F. Farnsworth Senior Fellow at FSI

Moderator

Katherine Casey, Assistant Professor of Political Economy, GSB

Join us for a stimulating discussion on the opportunities, obstacles and unforeseen events encountered while conducting field research in the developing world. The panelists will share stories of challenges and successes from their own experience and will offer insights on conducting effective research in the field.