Key Players Return for 2003 Cardinal

The Stanford University men's volleyball program continued its strong tradition in 2002 by finishing in the top 10 in the nation for the 15th time in the last 18 years. And with 10 letterwinners returning, the outlook looks bright for 2003.

"I felt really good about what we accomplished last season," Stanford head coach Don Shaw said. Shaw returned to the men's program in 2002 after spending the last decade-and-a-half with the Cardinal women's volleyball program. "Everyone worked really hard. We were in every match, and were very close to having a tremendous year."

Stanford, which was ranked eighth in the final 2002 poll, returns key players at every position.

Most notable among the returners is 2002 First-Team All-American Curt Toppel, who spent the summer training with the United States National Team. The 6-foot-8 senior opposite hitter, who was also a First-Team All-Mountain Pacific Sports Federation selection, ranks among the top five in Stanford history in kills per game, kills and services aces per game.

Toppel is joined by a pair of Honorable Mention All-Mountain Pacific Sports Federation selections — senior outside hitter William Strickland and redshirt sophomore setter Kevin Hansen.

"The good news for us is that we return a lot of key guys," Shaw said. "The key for us will be how we control the ball after we lost our two best passers (Marcus Skacel and Seth Ring) to graduation. If we handle the ball well, this will be a very good team."

Curt Toppel is a world class player who makes his teammates better, according to Head Coach Don Shaw.

The Cardinal made a great first impression this fall by winning the championship at the prestigious Husky Dino Cup in Calgary, Alberta, Canada, for the first time in six tries. Stanford, which was without Toppel who stopped out of school for the fall quarter, won the tournament with a thrilling five-game gold medal match victory over Pacific (17-25, 25-22, 17-25, 26-24, 15-11).

Stanford will look to build on its success from the fall as it prepares for the grueling 22-game Mountain Pacific Sports Federation schedule. The Cardinal finished fifth in the 12-team MPSF with a 15-7 record last season, and fell 3-2 (21-19 in the fifth game) in the quarterfinals of the conference playoffs at BYU.

"Everyone in our conference is very strong," Shaw said. "If you don't play well, you're going to lose on that night. Every match we play is going to be a huge match. There is no margin for error."

Kevin Hansen

Here is a position-by-position look at the 2003 Stanford Cardinal:

Setter

Stanford returns both of its setters from last season — redshirt sophomores Kevin Hansen (Newport Beach, CA) and Patrick Bomhack (Waukesha, WI).

Hansen was the Cardinal's starter in 2002, and enjoyed a solid campaign en route to Honorable Mention All-Mountain Pacific Sports Federation honors. He recorded 1,317 assists, which is the seventh highest single season total in school history and already moves him up to eighth on the school career assist list. Hansen helped lead the Cardinal to a .360 team hitting percentage, which ranked second in the MPSF. The 6-foot-5 Hansen, who received MPSF Player of the Week honors in February after guiding the Cardinal to a home upset over then-No. 1 UCLA, played in 96 out of a possible 100 games and was second on the team in service aces (27) and third in digs (149).

"Kevin does a great job of following a game plan," Shaw said of the 2003 co-captain. "He has good quickness, and can get to a lot of balls. He plays good defense and does a solid job running the offense."

Bomhack appeared in 46 games a year ago and recorded 93 assists, 23 kills and 19 digs. The 6-foot-9 Bomhack performed well in the fall, and is expected to see an increased role this season.

"At 6-9, Patrick brings a lot more size to the net," said Shaw. "His blocking ability gives us an added dimension at the setter position."

Jeremy Jacobs, a 6-foot-4 true freshman out of Dallas, Texas, could contribute at the setter position.

Middle Blocker

Stanford returns a talented quartet of middle blockers in 2003, and the unit has been bolstered by the addition of a promising newcomer.

Senior Paul Bocage (Princeton, NJ) had an outstanding fall, as he earned Tournament Most Valuable Player Honors at the Husky Dino Cup. He was also a "Tournament All-Star" after recording 35 kills and 14 blocks in four matches, including a 14-kill, five-block effort against Pacific in the gold medal match. The 6-foot-6 Bocage, who owns a career hitting percentage of .403, led the team in blocks per game (1.05) a year ago and was second in both kills per game (2.93) and hitting percentage (.433). He finished with 246 kills, 88 blocks and 11 service aces in 84 games.

Senior Kyle Strache (Malibu, CA) appeared in 44 games last season, and was fourth on the team with 0.70 blocks per game. The 6-foot-5 Strache finished with 31 blocks, including a season-high seven vs. BYU on Jan. 11, to go along with 63 kills, 11 assists and 10 digs.

Joining Bocage and Strache are a pair of sophomores — Craig Buell (Solana Beach, CA) and Christopher Sandman (San Jose, CA) — who are coming off solid freshman campaigns.

Buell appeared in 37 games before his season was cut short in early March because of illness. The 6-foot-5 product of Santa Fe Christian High School finished the campaign with a .436 hitting percentage.

Sandman appeared in 50 games as a freshman, and recorded 83 kills, 40 blocks and 18 digs. The Bay Area native ranked third on the team in blocks per game (0.80), and had a season-high six blocks at BYU on Jan. 12.

Freshman Chris Ahlfeldt (Manhattan Beach, CA) is also expected to contribute immediately after leading Mira Costa High School to back-to-back CIF Championships and The LBC Club to back-to-back Junior National Championships. He hit .433 with eight kills, two digs and two blocks in the gold medal match of the Husky Dino Cup vs. Pacific.

Outside Hitter

Senior William Strickland (Malibu, CA) will lead the way on the outside after turning in an impressive campaign in 2002.

Strickland, a 2003 co-captain, was named Honorable Mention All-Mountain Pacific Sports Federation in 2002 after hitting .354 with 243 kills. He was also among the team leaders in kills per game (2.61), digs per game (1.47), digs (137) and blocks (56). The senior picked up where he left off this fall by being named a “Tournament All-Star” at the Husky Dino Cup in October. He led Stanford in kills in all four matches, and posted 15 kills and seven digs in the gold medal match vs. Pacific.

“The best words to describe William are solid and consistent,” Shaw said. “He is one of the most consistent guys out there — not just on our team, but anywhere. He plays the game well all the way around, and you can count on what he is going to give you each and every match.”

Strickland is joined on the outside by sophomore David Vogel (Poway, CA) and freshmen Jeremy Jacobs (Dallas, TX), Nick Manov (Santa Cruz, CA) and Ben Reddy (Waukesha, WI).

Vogel saw most of his time in the back row as a freshman, recording 36 digs, two kills, two assists and two service aces in 40 games. Vogel is expected to see a lot of time at libero again this season.

Jacobs, who will also see time at setter and libero, is one of the most versatile players on the squad.

Manov, who will also see time at opposite, was a Volleyball Magazine “Fab 50” recruit out of nearby Mount Madonna High School. He was named the Central Coast Section Most Valuable Player as a senior, and led his squad to the section title by racking up 49 kills in the championship match.

Reddy, who is from the same hometown as setter Patrick Bomhach, turned in an impressive performance this fall. In the gold medal match of the Husky Dino Cup, he hit .500 with eight kills, three blocks and two digs. He was a 2002 First-Team All-Wisconsin selection and a three-year team captain at Waukesha South High School.

Opposite Hitter

Senior Curt Toppel (Palisades, CA), who will go down in the record books as one of the top players in Stanford history, is coming off a First-Team All-American campaign in 2002. The 6-foot-8 Toppel trained with the United States National Team this summer, stopped out of Stanford for fall quarter and returned to The Farm in January.

Toppel was simply dominant in 2002, recording 520 kills (5.42 per game), 32 service aces, 114 digs (1.19 pg) and 63 blocks (0.66 pg). He enters his senior campaign ranked second in Stanford history in kills per game (6.39), fourth in kills (1,507), fifth in service aces per game (0.292), eighth in service aces (69) and 10th in hitting percentage (.353).

“Curt a world class volleyball player who has played at a very high level with the United States National Team and various junior teams,” Shaw said. “He makes everyone around him better. He has carried a huge load for this team ever since he was a freshman, and will carry a huge load again this season.”

Senior William Curtis (Whittier, CA) will push for time at opposite after turning in an impressive performance at the Husky Dino Cup. He appeared in all four matches, and recorded 37 kills, 15 digs and nine blocks. He appeared in 29 games a year ago, and had 38 kills, 25 digs and six blocks.

Freshman Nick Manov, who will also see time at outside hitter, adds depth to this group.

Libero

Sophomore David Vogel returns to the libero position after seeing the majority of his time in the back row last season. He played in 40 games in 2002, and recorded 36 digs (0.90 average). Vogel, who is also expected to see time at outside hitter, had 26 digs in four matches at the Husky Dino Cup this fall, including 11 in the gold medal match vs. Pacific.

Vogel will be joined at libero by freshman Jeremy Jacobs, who will also see time at both setter and outside hitter. He is a Volleyball Magazine “Fab 50” recruit out of The Greenhill School in Dallas, Texas. He was also a four-time First-Team All-Southwest Preparatory Conference selection.

Don Shaw

One of the top coaches in collegiate women's volleyball history, Don Shaw began his second stint as the Stanford University men's volleyball head coach in June of 2001.

Shaw begins his 23rd season on The Farm in 2003 and fourth year as head coach of the Cardinal men, including two years of serving as co-coach with Fred Sturm in 1984 and 1985.

In three seasons at the helm of the Cardinal men, he has compiled a 53-34 (.609) record. Shaw guided the Cardinal to a 17-9 record in 2002, a top 10 final ranking and a top five finish in the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation. In his two years as co-head coach in the 1980's, the Cardinal went 36-25 and finished ranked in the top five in the nation in 1985.

In his 16-year tenure as Stanford women's volleyball head coach (1984-1999), Shaw guided the Cardinal to four NCAA Championships (1992, 1994, 1996, 1997) and 10 conference titles, including six Pac-10 Championships in a row from 1994-1999. In all, he guided Stanford to the NCAA Championship match eight times in his 16 seasons.

Shaw compiled a career winning percentage of .863 (440-70), which still ranks as the best in NCAA history. He was named National Women's Coach of the Year in 1991 and 1997, and Regional/District Coach of the Year in 1992, 1994 and 1997.

He also served as an assistant coach for the gold medal-winning United States Men's Team at the 1982 National Sports Festival as well as the assistant for the U.S. Women's Team at the 1991 Pan-Am Games in Havana, Cuba.

Prior to becoming a head coach, Shaw was an assistant at Stanford under Sturm for both the men's and women's programs from 1980-83. He began his coaching career as an assistant at UC Santa Barbara in 1976.

Shaw was a member of the U.S. National Team in 1979 and also earned All-America honors in leading Chuck's Steak House to the USVBA open national championship in both 1977 and 1978. He was also a USVBA All-American in 1986, playing on the winning Billauer/Norfleet team in the senior division. He played professionally for the San Jose Diablos in 1979 and 1980 and was one of the top beach players in the country.

Shaw also excelled in baseball and basketball, and was selected by the Kansas City Royals in the 1969 Baseball Amateur Draft. Shaw also played basketball at Loyola Marymount from 1971-73, and led the West Coast Athletic Conference in free throw percentage (85.3) in 1971-72.

He received a bachelor's degree in sociology with an athletic coaching minor from UC Santa Barbara in 1977. Shaw resides in Menlo Park with his daughter Jordan and son James.

THE MOUNTAIN PACIFIC SPORTS FEDERATION

A Legacy of National Champions

Established in 1992, the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) unites the Big West, Pacific-10, Mountain West, Western Athletic and West Coast Conferences and other selected universities in the western United States, to provide championship competition for Division I intercollegiate Olympic sports in a conference setting. The MPSF was originally formed to provide enhanced competition and championship opportunities for sports without conference affiliation; to contain the costs of competition; and to ensure the survival of sports impacted by Title IX and other fiscal pressures. In addition, the MPSF has also served as an incubator for emerging women's sports and as a safe harbor for sports impacted by conference realignments. Beginning its eleventh year of competition the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation successfully embraces change by allowing contraction and expansion of its intercollegiate athletics portfolio based on the constantly evolving needs of its member institutions.

Pepperdine University, of the West Coast Conference, won the MPSF men's volleyball championship only to be upset in the NCAA final at Penn State University by MPSF runner-up University of Hawaii, which earned its first-ever NCAA championship in a men's sport.

In the 2002-2003 academic year, the MPSF will serve 32 member institutions competing at the NCAA Division I level in eight Olympic sports: men's soccer, men's and women's water polo, men's and women's indoor track and field, men's and women's gymnastics and men's volleyball. All MPSF champions compete in NCAA Championships with MPSF men's soccer, men's and women's water polo, and men's volleyball champions earning automatic qualification into NCAA championship events.

Also for 2002-2003, the MPSF welcomes the University of Alaska Anchorage and Seattle Pacific University to compete in the second Federation women's gymnastics championship. The inaugural women's gymnastics championship, which took place last March at the United States Air Force Academy, in conjunction with the Federation's men's gymnastics championship, was won by California State University, Sacramento, who will be the 2003 women's championship host. The 2002 championships were the final MPSF competition for UC Santa Barbara, which dropped both their men's and women's gymnastics programs at the end of the season.

During 2001-2002, perennial Sears Cup champion, Stanford University, won the MPSF and NCAA men's and women's water polo championships over Pacific-10 Conference rival UCLA. Mountain West Conference member, University of New Mexico, won the MPSF men's soccer championship tournament after advancing from the eighth seed and earned the Federation's automatic qualifier to the NCAA tournament. UNM will host the 2002 MPSF men's soccer tournament. UCLA took the men's indoor track and field championship with Pac-10 partner Arizona winning the women's championship at Northern Arizona University in Flagstaff. The University of Oklahoma won its third consecutive MPSF men's gymnastics crown in 2002 and topped its season with the NCAA team championship. As a testament to its successful growth and its well established tradition of NCAA and national championship caliber play, in 1997 the MPSF Administrative Committee selected Al Beard, former Director of Youth and Community Programs for UC Davis Athletics, as its first-ever executive director. Beard continues to centralize the administration of all Federation sports, working closely with approximately 80 coaches from over 30 universities in eleven western states. Beard also works closely with the Federation's Administrative Committee, while overseeing all aspects of MPSF business, including scheduling, officials, championships, media relations, NCAA relations, and as liaison to the USOC and national sports governing bodies.

The Mountain Pacific Sports Federation

The MPSF was established in 1992 and unites the Big West, Pacific-10, Mountain West, Western Athletic and West Coast Conferences, providing championship competition to 32 member institutions, all competing at the NCAA Division I level in eight Olympic sports. The men's volleyball conference includes a 12-team single division, with the conference season consisting of 22 matches (each team playing home-and-home, with the exception of traveling to or hosting two matches against BYU and Hawai'i). Here is a list of the 12 MPSF teams in 2003:

BYU	CS Northridge
Hawai'i	Long Beach State
Pacific	Pepperdine
Stanford	UC Irvine
UCLA	UC San Diego
UC Santa Barbara	USC

2003 MPSF Championship Tournament April 19-26

The top eight finishers in the conference will play in this single elimination tournament to determine the MPSF Champion and the West Region's automatic qualifier to the NCAA Final Four. The top four seeds will host the first round matches on April 19. The highest remaining seed will then host the semifinals on April 24 and championship match on April 26. Other conference teams can still be considered for one NCAA at-large berth.

2003 NCAA Championships May 1-3

Four teams from across the country will participate in this tournament in Long Beach, California. One automatic qualifier will come out of the East, Midwest and West Regions, and the NCAA selection committee will choose one at-large team.

Stanford Volleyball Scholarship Funding

Two sources provide scholarship funds for Stanford's student-athletes: the Athletic Department's scholarship endowment and the Buck/Cardinal Club.

The Buck/Cardinal Club

Nearly $3 million is raised annually in scholarship funds through the gifts of the Club's 6,000 members. Over 250 volunteers assist the Athletic Department in its annual fund raising efforts.

Endowed Scholarships

Endowed scholarships are large sums of money that have been invested in the University's endowment and generate significant interest income each year. A portion of the income is spent on student aid and the remainder is reinvested in the principal.

The following endowed scholarships, named for the donor or for someone the donor wishes to honor, provide full or partial grants-in-aid to members of the 2003 men's volleyball team:

The Dale H. Austin Athletic Scholarship	Curt Toppel
The Milton C. and Nellie Jo Iverson Scholarship	Marcus Skacel
The Anthony B. Joseph Athletic Scholarship	William Strickland
The Sherman N. Shumway Scholarship	Paul Bocage
The Rixford K. Snyder Scholarship	Patrick Bomhack
The Joseph and Mary Vickers Scholarship	William Curtis

Join The Stanford Men's Volleyball Bump Club

The Stanford Men's Volleyball office is responsible each year for fundraising a significant portion of its operating budget. This challenge has been met over the years in great part through membership in the Bump Club. The Bump Club is the Stanford Men's Volleyball booster group. The funds generated through Bump Club membership are absolutely vital to the continued success and existence of Stanford Men's Volleyball.

The Stanford Athletic Department provides the great majority of funding necessary to operate the Men's Volleyball Program. For example, through Athletic Department dollars, Stanford Men's Volleyball is funded to the NCAA men's volleyball limit of 4 1/2 scholarships. The Athletic Department also provides the bulk of funding to cover salaries and operating expenses. This, combined with Bump Club support, is the financial life blood of Stanford Men's Volleyball.

Your Bump Club membership is very important to Stanford Men's Volleyball. All alumni, family members, friends of Stanford Men's Volleyball, and friends of Stanford Athletics are asked to join. It is easy to become a Bump Club member and contributions are welcome in any amount. To join, make your check payable to Stanford Men's Volleyball and send to: Men's Volleyball Office, Athletic Department, Stanford, CA 94305-6150. Your donation is tax-deductible.

If you have any questions concerning Stanford Men's Volleyball, contact head coach Don Shaw at the above address, or e-mail donshaw@stanford.edu, or call (650) 725-0763. Stanford Men's Volleyball is grateful for your support.

Stanford University

On October 1, 1891, the 465 new students who were on hand for opening day ceremonies at Leland Stanford Junior University greeted Leland and Jane Stanford enthusiastically, with a chant they had made up and rehearsed only that morning. Wah-hoo! Wah-hoo! L-S-J-U! Stanford! Its wild and spirited tone symbolized the excitement of this bold adventure. As a pioneer faculty member recalled, “Hope was in every heart, and the presiding spirit of freedom prompted us to dare greatly.”

Millions of volumes are housed in many libraries throughout the campus.

For the Stanfords on that day, the university was the realization of a dream and a fitting tribute to the memory of their only son, who had died of typhoid fever weeks before his sixteenth birthday. Far from the nation’s center of culture and unencumbered by tradition or ivy, the new university drew students from all over the country: many from California; some who followed professors hired from other colleges and universities; and some simply seeking adventure in the West. Though there were many difficulties during the first months—housing was inadequate, microscopes and books were late in arriving from the East—the first year foretold greatness. As Jane Stanford wrote in the summer of 1892, “Even our fondest hopes have been realized.”

Stanford University The University at a Glance

Ideas of "Practical Education"

Governor and Mrs. Stanford had come from families of modest means and had built their way up through a life of hard work. So it was natural that their first thoughts were to establish an institution where young men and women could "grapple successfully with the practicalities of life." As their thoughts matured, these ideas of "practical education" enlarged to the concept of producing cultured and useful citizens who were well-prepared for professional success.

More than one hundred years later, the university still enjoys the original 8,180 acres (almost 13 square miles) of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy, as well as the Quadrangle of "long corridors with their stately pillars" at the center of campus. It is still true, as the philosopher William James said, during his stint as a visiting professor, that the climate is "so friendly ... that every morning wakes one fresh for new amounts of work."

Current Perspectives

In other ways, the university has changed tremendously on its way to recognition as one of the world's great universities. At the hub of a vital and diverse Bay Area, Stanford is an hour's drive south of San Francisco and just a few miles north of the Silicon Valley, an area dotted with computer and high technology firms largely spawned by the university's faculty and graduates. On campus, students and faculty enjoy new libraries, modern laboratories, sports facilities, and comfortable residences. Contemporary sculpture, as well as pieces from the Stanford Museum's extensive collection of sculpture by Auguste Rodin, is placed throughout the campus, providing unexpected pleasures at many turns. At the Stanford Medical Center, world-renowned for its research, teaching, and patient care, scientists and physicians are searching for answers to fundamental questions about health and disease. Ninety miles down the coast, at Stanford's Hopkins Marine Station on the Monterey Bay, scientists are working to better understand the mechanisms of evolution, human development, and ecological systems.

The university is organized into seven schools: Earth Sciences, Education, Engineering, the Graduate School of Business, Humanities and Sciences, Law, and Medicine. In addition, there are more than 30 interdisciplinary centers, programs, and research laboratories – including the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace; the Institute for International Studies; the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center; and the Stanford Center for the Study of Families, Children and Youth – where faculty from a wide range of fields bring different perspectives to bear on issues and problems. Stanford's Overseas Studies Program offers students in all fields remarkable opportunities for study abroad, with campuses in Paris, Kyoto, Santiago, Berlin, Oxford, Florence, and Moscow.

Stanford People

By any measure, Stanford's faculty – which numbers approximately 1,700 – is one of the most distinguished in the nation. It includes 17 Nobel laureates, 4 Pulitzer Prize winners, 21 National Medal of Science winners, 124 members of the National Academy of Sciences, 219 members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 83 members of the National Academy of Engineering, and 24 members of the National Academy of Education. Yet beyond their array of honors, what truly distinguishes Stanford faculty is their commitment to sharing knowledge with their students. The great majority of professors teach undergraduates both in introductory lecture classes and in small advanced seminars.

Currently 13,900 students, of which 6,500 are undergraduates, live and study on campus. About 40 percent come from California, but all 50 states and approximately 100 countries are represented as well. Among undergraduates, 44 percent are African-American, Asian-American, Hispanic or Native American. Like the faculty, the Stanford student body is distinguished. Approximately 10 students apply to Stanford for every place in the freshman class. Seventy-six Stanford students have been named Rhodes Scholars and 52 have been named Marshall Scholars. Nearly 90 percent of graduating seniors plan to attend graduate or professional schools. Stanford students also shine in a tremendous array of activities outside the classroom – from student government to music, theater, and journalism. Through the Haas Center for Public Service, students participate in dozens of community service activities, such as tutoring programs for children in nearby East Palo Alto, the Hunger Project, and the Arbor Free Clinic.

In the athletic arena, Stanford students have enjoyed tremendous success as well. Stanford fields teams in 34 Division I varsity sports – equally divided between men's and women's teams. Of Stanford's 93 national team titles, 43 have been captured since 1990, by far the most in the nation. Thirty-eight of Stanford's athletes and coaches participated in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, 49 competed in Atlanta at the 1996 Games and 34 represented Stanford at the 2000 Games in Sydney – by far the most of any university in the nation. Intramural and club sports are also popular; over 1,000 students take part in the club sports program, while participation in the intramural program has reached 9,000, with many students active in more than one sport.

Stanford University still enjoys the original 8,180 acres of grassy fields, eucalyptus groves, and rolling hills that were the Stanfords' generous legacy.

Looking Ahead

In her address to the Board of Trustees, in 1904, Jane Stanford said, "... Let us not be afraid to outgrow old thoughts and ways, and dare to think on new lines as to the future of the work under our care." Her thoughts echo in the words of former Stanford President Gerhard Casper, who has said, "The true university must reinvent itself every day ... At Stanford, these are days of such reconsideration and fresh support for our fundamental tasks – teaching, learning, and research."

Stanford Athletics

Home of Champions

Stanford captured a second-straight women's tennis NCAA team title in 2002.

"Home of Champions." Those are the bywords for the Stanford University Athletic Department.

And for good reason. No athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished since the 1980s. NCAA team champions. NCAA individual champions. Olympic medalists. Stanford University athletes have been all over the world capturing championships.

The statistics speak for themselves: Stanford University has won 66 NCAA team championships since 1980, the most in the nation; Cardinal athletes have won 43 NCAA championships since 1990 – again the most in the nation. Stanford has brought home 19 NCAA championship trophies the past five years, including an unprecedented six NCAA team titles in 1996-97. In 1991-92, Stanford athletes took home 29 individual NCAA titles – an NCAA record. Cardinal athletes won 21 individual championships during the 1992-93 season, the second most in history.

Even more impressive is Stanford's string of eight consecutive Sears Directors' Cup titles (1995-02). The award honors the nation's top overall athletic program and with eight straight #1 finishes, it's no wonder Stanford is considered the dominant athletic program in the nation.

Stanford captured its eighth straight Sears Directors' Cup in 2001-02 with 1,499 points, winning the honor by 388.5 points over second place Texas. The Cardinal won a total of four NCAA team crowns with championships in women's tennis and women's volleyball, as well as men's and women's water polo. The Cardinal added second place national finishes in men's cross country, men's swimming and diving and synchronized swimming. A total of 11 Stanford teams finished among the nation's top five and 22 among the top 10. The Cardinal also picked up 18 individual NCAA titles and 14 team conference championships.

In 2000-01, Stanford won an NCAA team championship in women's tennis and had 15 teams finish in the top five nationally. The Cardinal also had 20 teams place among the top 10 and 26 among the top 25, to go along with 14 individual national champions and 12 conference titles. Stanford finished with 1,359 points in the Sears Directors' Cup standings to easily outdistance runner-up UCLA's 1,138.

Stanford has now won at least one NCAA team championship for 26 straight years. Cardinal teams have also won four or more NCAA team titles in a single year nine times, an NCAA best.

All totaled, Stanford has won 93 collegiate team titles (83 NCAA championships) and 367 NCAA individual titles. Cardinal women have won an NCAA-best 29 team championships while men's teams have captured 54 NCAA team titles, third-best in the nation. Overall, Stanford's 83 NCAA team championships rank second in the nation.

In the last 10 years (since 1992-93), Stanford has claimed 37 national team championships and 34 NCAA team titles – the best in the country.

In 1999-2000, Stanford won the Sears Directors' Cup by a wide margin for the sixth consecutive year. Stanford won team championships in men's tennis – its 18th overall in that sport – and men's track and field while placing second nationally in six other sports (baseball, women's volleyball, men's water polo, synchronized swimming, women's tennis and women's golf).

In 1999-2000, Stanford's football team won the Pacific-10 Conference championship and played in the Rose Bowl for the first time in 28 years while the men's basketball team earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament, tied for the conference title, finished 27-4 overall and held the nation's No. 1 ranking during the season. The Cardinal baseball team followed by sharing the Pac-10 crown and advancing to the College World Series, marking the first time in history that a school won Pac-10 championships in football, men's basketball and baseball in the same year.

Stanford has also enjoyed unequalled success in Olympic competition.

At the 2000 Summer Games in Sydney, Australia, Stanford University was represented by a total of 34 athletes and coaches. The Cardinal contingent won a total of 10 medals - four gold, three silver and three bronze.

At the 1996 Games in Atlanta, Stanford again placed 49 coaches and athletes on Olympic teams, including three head United States Olympic head coaches (Tara VanDerveer, women's basketball; Richard Quick, women's swimming; Skip Kenney, men's swimming). Stanford athletes accounted for 16 gold medals, one silver and one bronze in Atlanta.

At the 1992 Games in Barcelona, Cardinal athletes earned 19 medals – 10 gold, four silver and five bronze. If Stanford were a country, it would have placed 13th in the world with its 19 medals and ninth with 10 golds. Thirty-eight Stanford-affiliated athletes and coaches participated in Barcelona while 41 members of the Cardinal family took part in the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea.

National titles have become quite commonplace in the Stanford Athletic department. In 1996-97, Cardinal teams set an NCAA record by winning six NCAA team championships in a single academic year: men's and women's cross country, men's and women's volleyball and men's and women's tennis. Nine other teams finished in the top four nationally, including second-place finishes in women's swimming and diving, men's swimming and diving, men's water polo and women's synchronized swimming. Stanford also posted third-place finishes in women's basketball, baseball and fencing, as well as fourth-place finishes in women's golf and women's water polo.

The 1996-97 school year also saw the Cardinal football team advance to the Sun Bowl, the 18th bowl game in school history, the women's basketball team return to the Final Four, the baseball team qualify for the College World Series and the men's basketball team advance to the Sweet Sixteen of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since it won the 1942 NCAA title.

No other athletic department in the country can boast of the kind of success that Stanford has accomplished.

The following year (1997-98) Stanford won NCAA team titles in men's cross country, women's volleyball, men's swimming and diving, women's swimming and diving, and men's tennis along with a U.S. Collegiate title in synchronized swimming. Also, 14 teams finished among the nation's top five, 19 in the top 10 and 22 in the top 20. Other teams finishing among the top five nationally included men's basketball, which made its first Final Four appearance in 56 years, women's tennis, men's water polo, women's water polo and fencing.

During the 1998-99 campaign, Stanford won one NCAA team title in women's tennis and one US Collegiate Championship in synchronized swimming. Seven teams placed second in the nation, including men's cross country, men's soccer, men's swimming and diving, women's swimming and diving, men's track and field, men's water polo and women's water polo. Third-place finishers included baseball, women's cross country, and fencing.

Cardinal teams also won 18 conference or regional championships in '98-99 – by far the best performance of any school in the nation. Stanford has now won 131 conference or regional titles since 1991, again the best in the country.

Not only has the Cardinal won an NCAA record six NCAA team championships in a single season (1996-97), but it has also won five NCAA titles in a single year on three occasions: 1991-92, '94-95 and '97-98. Cardinal teams have won four championships in a single academic year on five occasions: 1985-86, '86-87, '92-93, '93-94 and 2001-02.

Stanford's Curt Toppel, a three-time All-American, has spent time on the U.S. National team.

Stanford has simply dominated in several sports. Under head coach Dick Gould, the Cardinal men's tennis team has won 18 NCAA titles while the women's team has hauled in 13 national titles. The men's swimming and diving program has won eight NCAA team championships, seven under current head coach Skip Kenney, while the men's water polo team has captured ten national titles.

The Cardinal women's swimming and diving team has won nine national titles, seven under current head coach Richard Quick. Quick has been the head coach for the United States Olympic Swimming teams in 1988 (Seoul), 1996 (Atlanta) and 2000 (Sydney.) Tara VanDerveer, the 1996 United States Olympic head women's basketball coach, has led the Cardinal to two NCAA championships and five appearances in the Final Four.

Baseball coach Mark Marquess, who was the head coach of the gold medal winning 1988 United States Olympic baseball team, led the Cardinal to back-to-back College World Series titles in 1987 and '88. Former men's gymnastics coach Sadao Hamada led the Cardinal to three NCAA championships, Don Shaw guided Stanford's baseball team has advanced to the College World Series four consecutive years, finishing tied for third in 2002.

the Stanford women's volleyball program to four NCAA titles in the 1990's (he is now the men's volleyball coach) and current head women's volleyball coach John Dunning guided the Cardinal to an NCAA title in his first season in 2001. Former men's golf coach Wally Goodwin led his team to the NCAA title in 1994, the first men's golf title at Stanford since 1953. Vin Lananna joined the championship parade in 1996 by leading both his men's and women's cross country teams to national titles. He came back in 1997 to lead his men's cross country team to another NCAA title and in 2000, while his men's track and field team won the first national championship in track at Stanford since 1934.

Olympic gold medalists are numerous on The Farm. Former Cardinal standout Bob Mathias won back-to-back Olympic decathlon gold medals in 1948 and '52 while swimmers Pablo Morales, Jenny Thompson, Summer Sanders, Janet Evans and Misty Hyman have become household names in the swimming world.

Morales, who helped Stanford win three straight NCAA team championships (1985-87), won three medals at the '84 Games in Los Angeles (one gold, two silver) and two more gold medals at the '92 Games in Barcelona. Evans won three golds in the '88 Games in Seoul, and one gold and one silver in Barcelona, while Sanders won four medals in Barcelona; two gold, one silver and one bronze. Thompson is the most decorated athlete in Olympic history with eight gold medals, a silver and a bronze. Hyman added her name to the list of Stanford swimming greats by winning the 2000 Olympic gold medal in the 200 meter butterfly to pull off one of the biggest upsets of the Sydney Olympiad.

Some of the great student-athletes in Stanford history include Tiger Woods and Tom Watson (golf); John McEnroe, Roscoe Tanner and Tim Mayotte (men's tennis); Kim Oden, Kristin Klein and Logan Tom (women's volleyball); Kristin Folk (basketball/volleyball); Jack McDowell and Mike Mussina (baseball); Julie Foudy (women's soccer); Hank Luisetti, Brevin Knight and Mark Madsen (men's basketball); Jennifer Azzi and Kate Starbird (women's basketball); Jim Plunkett, John Elway and Troy Walters (football); Debi Thomas (figure skating); Eric Heiden (speed skating); and the great Ernie Nevers (football), to name a few.
