PAC-12 COACHES' POLL: For the 14th time since 1986, the Pac-12 coaches picked Stanford to win the conference. The Cardinal was a unanimous pick to defend its title, garnering all available first-place votes. The coaches have correctly chosen the conference champion in 18 of the previous 29 polls.

BY THE NUMBERS: The Stanford women's volleyball program has won more NCAA Tournament matches (108), made more Final Four appearances (19) and been in the national championship match (14) more times than any other team in the nation. The Cardinal has captured 19 conference championships and produced 30 or more wins on 17 occasions. Stanford has six NCAA titles and has competed in all 34 NCAA Tournaments, having won all 34 of its first-round matches.

AVCA ALL-AMERICANS: Stanford led the nation with six total AVCA All-Americans in 2014, including first-team selections Inky Ajanaku, Madi Bugg and Jordan Burgess. Merete Lutz earned second team accolades, while seniors Morgan Boukather and Kyle Gilbert were honorable mention picks.

IN THE CLASSROOM: Not only does the team perform well on the court, but the Cardinal also represents in the classroom. Stanford was one of three Pac-12 teams to earn the AVCA's Team Academic Award, while all five returning starters earned Pac-12 All-Academic honorable mention in 2014. Additionally, senior Jordan Burgess was named to the Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American.

2014 IN REVIEW: Stanford went 33-2 last season, tying the school record for wins in a season, and advanced to its nation-best 19th Final Four. The Cardinal opened the 2014 campaign with a 28-match winning streak, setting a program record for consecutive victories to start a season. Stanford had six players earn AVCA All-America honors - Inky Ajanaku (First Team), Madi Bugg (First Team), Jordan Burgess (First Team), Merete Lutz (Second Team), Morgan Boukather (Honorable Mention) and Kyle Gilbert (Honorable Mention). Additionally, Ajanaku was tabbed the Volleyball Magazine National Player of the Year, the seventh in program history.

TAKING ON THE BEST: Once again, head coach John Dunning has lined up one of the most challenging schedules in the nation for the Cardinal. Stanford is slated to play 17 regular-season matches against teams ranked in the preseason poll, and 21 against teams that appeared in the 2014 NCAA Tournament.

HEAD COACH JOHN DUNNING: Now in his 15th season at the helm of the Cardinal program, head coach John Dunning is one of the most accomplished coaches in the collegiate volleyball world. Dunning has four national championships under his belt, has taken teams to 10 Final Fours and carried six of his 14 Stanford teams to the national title match.

DUNNING BY THE NUMBERS: In 30 years as a head coach, John Dunning is 846-175 (.829), giving him a winning percentage that ranks among the top 5 all-time for Division I coaches. He is 409-73 in his 14 seasons on The Farm, leading all active coaches in the conference by winning percentage (.849).
