

BE A STANFORD SEED INTERN

“ I believe in the power of the entrepreneur and of business to lift people out of poverty. The Seed internship provided a unique opportunity to work alongside an entrepreneur in the developing world to address some of the economic challenges facing the population there”

MUHAMMAD MUSTAFA,
MS, MANAGEMENT, '17, NIGERIA

Stanford | Seed
Stanford Institute for Innovation
in Developing Economies

THIS IS NO ORDINARY INTERNSHIP

It's an extraordinary opportunity to explore, engage, learn, and lead. To gain hands-on work experience in a developing or emerging economy. To immerse yourself in a new culture. To make an impact.

Seed is an exciting Stanford GSB-led initiative working to end the cycle of global poverty. As a Seed intern, you can contribute directly to a company's future, its growth, and job creation.

AD 1957

OM AND JUSTICE

SUMMER 2018 SEED INTERNSHIP

WHO: Stanford undergraduate and graduate students who are curious, eager, and inspired to make a difference.

WHAT: Paid summer internship at a Seed Transformation Program company—a locally owned small to medium sized company that has engaged with Stanford Seed to help grow and scale their business.

WHEN: Summer 2018 for 8 – 10 weeks. Shorter internships may be available.

WHERE: Various countries in West Africa, East Africa and India.

HOW: Learn more and apply at seed.stanford.edu
Application goes live on January 8, 2018; deadline is February 6, 2018.

Seed provides a stipend to cover roundtrip airfare, living expenses, accommodations, visas, vaccinations and other necessities.

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT

DAN ZUSSMAN

dzussman@stanford.edu | 650.725.8914

SEED.STANFORD.EDU

