- The Haas Center for Public Service engages Stanford students in local and global public service across diverse pathways: direct service, community engaged learning and research, activism, philanthropy, public policy, and social entrepreneurship. The Haas Center offers:
- Walk-in advising on public service opportunities and careers.
- Community engaged learning and research across disciplines.
- Supported full-time, quarter-long service opportunities in the U.S. and abroad.
- Tutoring and mentoring programs rooted in enduring partnerships and cutting-edge education research.
- Leadership training, service trips, and support for more than 125 service-related student organizations.

The Haas Center is the hub for Cardinal Service, a university-wide initiative to elevate service at Stanford in four areas:

- Cardinal Quarter: Students can select from more than 350 supported opportunities to participate full-time in service for a quarter or more. In the next five years, this will grow to 500 local, national and global opportunities.
- Cardinal Courses: Students can participate in more than 70 courses across 25 academic disciplines that integrate a community experience, examine a public issue, and explore civic identities.
- Cardinal Commitments: Students participate in and sustain a significant service experience to explore particular social issues or concerns.
- Cardinal Careers: Students explore multiple public service career options and learn about ways to integrate service into any career.
